Vote Delayed On Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Premier Khrushchev attacked the United States and its allies today and plunged the United Nations General Assembly into an uproar before he was gavelled to order.

At one point, the Soviet leader suggested socialist countries might form a United Nations of their own and invite other countries to join.

"This," he said, "will be the burying ground of the United Nations. This will be its tomb. We do not wish to see that."

The United States told the assembly that the Soviet leader's behavior cast doubt on the possibility of successful negotiations for world peace.

The heated exchange came as the assembly took up the question of Red China's admission to the UN. It adjourned this afternoon without taking a vote on the question.

The new uproar—the second in two days touched off by the Soviet leader—came when Khrushchev in off-the-cuff remarks from the rostrum attacked Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain as a "hangman."

SPANISH SHOUTS PROTEST

Spanish Ambassador Jose Felix de Lequerica shouted an angry protest from the floor. Assembly President Frederick Boland of Ireland banged his gavel to remind Khrushchev that UN speakers are not free to attack heads of state personally.

The Soviet premier accused Boland of using a double standard—one for the Western countries and one for the Communists. He said he would strike back when a socialist country is attacked.

Taking the rostrum under the right-of-reply rules, U.S. Ambassador James Wadsworth told the assembly he regretted the move.

New York in Tizzy Over Pie Sent to K

NEW YORK (UPI) — A brown package ostensibly containing a pie for Nikita Khrushchev from a woman in Texas sent off a police assassination alert today when X-ray tests indicated the parcel "might" contain a bomb.

Mrs. McCleary, who conducts her own letter-writing campaign to world statesmen in the cause of peace, explained she thought the gift of pie "would do some good." What it did do was this: Police blocked traffic, readied evacuation orders for the Soviet Legation, alerted the New York Central Railroad whose tracks pass in a tunnel under Park Avenue, and dispatched the package in an armored bomb disposal truck for examination at Fort Tilden, Brooklyn.

EXETER, England (AP) — Torrential rain swept across the southwest of England again today bringing new devastation to towns and villages already in chaos from floods.

South Devon coastal resorts stretching for 50 miles were under four feet of murky floodwaters. Landslides severed highways and railroads.

Rebuilt Chinatown to Rise In Wake of Nanaimo Blaze

36 Residences Destroyed; 250 Homeless

By DON INGHAM

NANAIMO — The groundwork was laid today for the rebuilding of Nanaimo's historic Chinatown, which burned to the ground Friday night in a blaze which lit up the sky for miles around and is considered one of the worst in the city's history.

Of the 43 buildings which lined both sides of a single block on Pine Street, 36 were completely razed, leaving 250 Chinese residents homeless and destitute. Most are elderly.

RCMP are fairly certain there was no loss of life. One man was reported missing Friday night, and bone fragments were found in the fire, today, but police said the chance of a fatality was a bare possibility.

Care of the victims, however, was assured at a meeting today of civic, provincial, civil defence, and Chinese community officials, according to Mayor Pete Maffeo.

"We set up committees for the immediate care of these people," he told the Times. "Quarters and empty houses will be found for those who wish them, and others who prefer to stay at their temporary quarters in Camp Nanaimo may remain."

"When their comfort is assured, then city and provincial officials will meet to consider building something fine and modern."

Said David Wah Thom, unofficial "mayor" of Chinatown: "Maybe a new town will rise from the ashes."

No Building Insurance

Loss was estimated at up to $200,000.

There was insurance on some of the furnishings in the homes, but none was carried on the buildings, erected about 1910.

Fanned by a high wind, flames raced through the ancient wooden buildings almost with the speed of light, and firemen had no hope of stopping them.

It was started at about 4:45 p.m. by a rubbish fire at the rear of a vacant building.

Witnesses said the elderly man who lit the fire tried to stop it when it flared up in the wind, but that by the time he realized he was helpless the building had caught fire.

Blaze Seen Miles Away

Nanaimo firemen took one side, and Harewood Volunteer Fire Department the other.

By 6 p.m. the whole town was in flames, and the blaze could be seen for miles.

There were scenes of tragedy as elderly Chinese, who made up the bulk of the population, seemed unable to cope with the idea that the roaring flames beside them were soon going to destroy their homes.

Howard Chang, 20, and his brother, Dennis, 17, actually started the evacuation and salvage effort by bursting into homes and tossing bedding and other goods into the street.

DOWN PIPE

An old man of 80 years slid down a drainpipe to safety, with nothing but the clothes he was wearing.

Heavy losses were suffered by Henry Wong, a farmer, whose own home went up in flames and who also had a metal safe burned in the fire.

"A lot of the older residents gave Henry their cash to keep in his safe," said Gunnar Wong, a friend. "I know of one old gentleman who lost a $500 bond, and I'm afraid there was a lot of cash left in boxes in the homes."

At least three safes were salvaged. Firemen cooled them with hoses, then bulldozer operator Jerry Heathcote cleared rubble away from them. Morris Loyer, using a front-end loader, then placed them in a gravel truck with a metal box.

WIRE BRIEFS

Mac's Car on Fire

NEW YORK (UPI) — Fire broke out today in the car carrying British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan through the Lincoln tunnel en route to catch a plane to Washington, police reported.

The fire, caused by the fan belt, was quickly put out by port authority police using an extinguisher. Macmillan transferred into another car in the motorcade and continued.

French Writers Held

PARIS (Reuters) — Police today held five writers after a raid on the premises of three French left-wing magazines allegedly linked with a manifesto claiming that Frenchmen could refuse to fight against Algerian insurgents.

Rightists Surrender

VIENTIANE (Reuters) — The last troops in northern Laos loyal to right-wing rebel leader Gen. Phoumi Nosavan have surrendered to the government in the northeastern province of Sam Neua, army headquarters announced here today.

Community Spirit Scores Victory Over Fire Loss

FIRE
In Camp Nanaimo, army camp near the city.

Faces impassive with the stoicism of countless generations inured to suffering, they still showed the strain and sorrow of having their lives turned upside down. But there were no complaints, and complete faith in the work of the volunteers who turned out in large numbers.

For some, though, the shock was too great. A few had to be forced to leave their homes; others were found later lying in the bushes nearby. Still others wandered dazedly about the fire until taken in to sleep.

Younger and active men like restaurateur Chuck Wong, who lost heavily in the fire; farmer Henry Wong and David Wah Thom smoothed the way for the elderly.

ONE ACCIDENT

Despite the fury of the fire, there was only one accident, when a spectator tripped over a hose.

Near tragedy was averted when a Harewood fire truck, cut off by the fire, blasted to safety through smoke and flame.

Crowds gathered at both Heceta Street and Pine Street approaches to the fire, and police were hard-pressed to make room for firemen to do their work.

"I had to shout two and three times at some of these blasted people," said one RCMP constable. It is estimated at one time that up to 2,000 spectators were at the fire.

LONG FEARED

A disaster such as this has long been a spectre feared by the community, and for several years they have kept their own fire watch 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Chinese bucket brigade has put out several fires in the town, and Friday night, at the height of the blaze, one old gentleman was carrying his bucket faithfully to the fire.

An industrial area south of the fire was threatened, but nothing started. Chief worry was a large tank of liquid carbon dioxide which firemen feared might explode if heated.

CHURCH SAVED

Also saved were the Chinese United Church and Masonic hall.

Homes which were saved will be checked by the fire marshal for possible occupancy, Mayor Maffeo said.

The disaster organization which went to work Friday night was back on the job at 7 a.m. today," he said. "It has given the Chinese community here a wonderful lift knowing it has so many friends."

The Victoria Lions Club has opened a fund to assist the fire victims.

Philip Chan, an official of the club said some donations were received today to assist the destitute fire victims.

Fellowships Granted

Three local men have been granted fellowships in the Canadian Institute of Realtors.

They are John H. Ford, 1318 Hampshire Road; J. B. Law, 293 Helmcken Road, and J. L. P. Mears, 2684 Seaview Drive. It follows their successful completion of a three-year course of advanced study in real estate subjects conducted by University of Toronto, extension department, on behalf of the Institute.

Chamber Approves Standard Resolution

Directors of Victoria Chamber of Commerce have asked the B.C. government not to pass or change any legislation which would lower the standards of professional groups in the province.

A resolution to this effect was unanimously approved by the directors at a luncheon meeting Friday.

E. E. Pearlman, QC, who presented it on behalf of the Chamber's professional group, said:

"I don't want to single out any particular body. Our concern is for the protection of

and for trucks to remove salvaged goods.

One witness said "there must have been 200 trucks lined up, waiting to help," and although that was considered a generous estimate, there were plenty. As fast as they were loaded they proceeded to Camp Nanaimo, a wartime army camp kept in good repair, where furnishings were unloaded and stored under guard.

Red Cross rounded up the residents, most of them elderly and not able to speak English, and sent them in Vancouver Island Coach Lines buses to Camp Nanaimo.

Names on Coats

There they were given sandwiches and coffee provided by Canadian Legion auxiliaries, and each had a ticket with his name on it pinned to his coat.

The army provided blankets and mattresses, and by 10 p.m., after a harrowing five hours, they were settled. The old gentlemen took lower bunks in its way.

First call was for first aiders to treat the injured, if any.

ACROSS THE PROVINCE

Mother of Four Charged With Husband's Murder

From Times News Service

CRESTON — Mrs. Violet-May Benson, mother of four, was committed Friday to stand trial on a charge of murder in connection with the shooting slaying of her husband.

She was committed following a day-long preliminary hearing in magistrate's court here.

Mr. Benson was shot to death at the Benson home near Creston last July 21.

Nine witnesses testified at the preliminary hearing before Stipendiary Magistrate Harold Langston.

Mr. Benson twice lost his composure, once when his daughter, Nora, 12, was on the stand, and again after the hearing when relatives came forward.

Her mother, Mrs. Nellie Wilbur, sobbed repeatedly as she testified that Mrs. Benson had told her there was still a shell in the gun which she had carried to Mrs. Wilbur's home. Mrs. Wilbur said Mrs. Benson asked if she should use it on herself.

"I answered 'My God, no!'" Mrs. Wilbur said.

Alexander Stanford Battist of Arrow Creek, a neighbor with whom Mrs. Wilbur lived, testified that Mrs. Benson appeared at his door about midnight to tell her mother of the shooting.

"TRICKED," SAYS LAWYER

VANCOUVER — A Vancouver lawyer said Friday he was cleverly tricked into signing forms for three fake passports for Chinese.

George (Ted) Gordon told Assize Court Friday that the formal passport photos a Chinese friend asked him to endorse were cunningly double-backed.

In each case, he said, he thought he was signing the back of two passport photos of two Chinese he knew when, instead, he was unknowingly putting his signature on the back of a second photograph stuck to the original.

Gordon was testifying in his own defence at a trial in which he, a Chinese named Sun Tong and a third man, Hien Dien Cheng, who was not in court, are charged in connection with obtaining of false passports which got a Chinese brother and sister and a third Chinese into Canada. Cheng has not been found.

UNION PAY HIKE

VANCOUVER — It took some bargaining but the top officers of the Western division of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC) finally got a wage increase.

The annual meeting of the division approved a $15-a-week increase for president Joe Morris and the secretary-treasurer, bringing their wages to $170 and $155 a week, respectively.

Full-time vice-presidents' salaries went up $11 to $145.

GOOD PEAR CROP

KELOWNA — A large, good quality crop of Anjou pears is in prospect in the Okanagan as harvesting gets under way.

B.C. Tree Fruits estimated Friday there will be 150,000 boxes compared to the 87,000 last year.

SMALLER THAN GARAGE

VANCOUVER — A school teacher said Friday she was expected to live in living quarters that were smaller than a garage and that had no elec-

a large army hut, where washroom signs were displayed in Chinese, and the work for their welfare went ahead at a more leisurely pace.

Some 14 women and children were billeted at St. Ann's Convent, where nuns made a temporary dormitory in the children's cafeteria.

Comfortable Night

Help was promised for the sisters, but it was purely through their own efforts that they made the homeless comfortable for the night.

"We borrowed two cribs and two baby buggies, and soon had everyone provided for, even the babies," said Sister Mary Louise Alma, Sister Superior at the school.

Today arrangements are being made with provincial welfare authorities to take over the care of those who have no other homes, and the local CCF organization is planning a fund-raising bingo party.

Already the United Appeal organization in Nanaimo has arranged a fund and will issue receipts. Cheques may be made out to Fire Relief Fund, Box 304, Nanaimo.

CD Planning

The Friday night program was only a part of the spontaneous effort made by citizens on behalf of the Chinese community, and it will be continued for weeks yet.

During the Second World War Pete Maffeo organized the Air Raid Protection services in Nanaimo, and did such a fine job that he received the Order of the British Empire at a Government House investiture after the war.

His work Friday night as mayor showed he had planned well 16 years ago, and had the modern civil defence set up ready at his fingertips.

ORDERED EXPUNGED

Boland ordered the reference to Franco expunged from the record. The Spanish ambassador took the floor and expressed thanks for this, while Khrushchev strode out of the hall.

Khrushchev had been angered by Wadsworth's speech, which denounced Red China as a regime dedicated to menacing peace and "senseless orgies of hatred."

Demanding the expulsion of Nationalist China from the UN, Khrushchev exclaimed:

"In order to avoid a hydrogen war, we have to cast out this corpse that we have here, right out to hell, and to introduce a living body, that is the Chinese People's Republic, here in its rightful place."

The Soviet leader had delayed his departure for a weekend rest in order to be present for this debate on whether Red China's membership should show up on the agenda for discussion by the whole world organization.

RED LEADERS DEPART

All Soviet bloc leaders walked out when Chinese Nationalist Ambassador Ting-fu F. Tsiang took the floor. Some left behind lower-ranking officials, others left all their seats vacant.

The U.S. had asked that, for a 10th year, the question of seating Red China be shelved for another 12 months. U.S. Ambassador James Wadsworth described the Communist regime as a wanton threat to world peace and an exponent of "senseless orgies of hatred."

Wadsworth accused the Peking regime of degrading Chinese culture and forcing its people to live in a "mental inferno."

As he spoke, Khrushchev took notes, scowled and twiddled his spectacles.

VIEWS DISTORTED

Wadsworth accused the Chinese of designs on Africa and charged China was constantly presenting a view of events there which were a "nightmare version of the facts."

"It takes little imagination," said Wadsworth, "to perceive that if Communist China had a seat in this organization today, they would make an all-out attempt to tear down everything the United Nations is trying to do in the Congo."

After reviewing Communist China's activities since its war against the UN in Korea, and accusing it of carrying on "the only organized shooting in the world today," Wadsworth said:

"The Chinese Communists oppose the United Nations charter and are contemptuous of those who devotedly seek to serve it."

A trawler reported picking up a fluorescent red triangle and other fishermen said they spotted a large oil stain in the water off nearby Giglio Island.

Painful Decision For Ike

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — President Eisenhower faced a painful decision today, posed by a neutralist resolution in the United Nations urging him to meet Premier Khrushchev in summit talks on easing the "threat to the world."

He may make up his mind after a conference with Britain's Prime Minister Macmillan in Washington Sunday.

Prior to the neutralist manoeuvre, White House officials said there was little or no likelihood that Eisenhower would agree to see Khrushchev. The United States position has been that the RB-47 case, with the imprisonment in Russia of two airmen from the downed plane, and Khrushchev's insults to the president closed and locked the door to any meeting.

But the question now is: How to say "no" to the call in the UN? Eisenhower has consistently said he would do anything in his power to remove the threat of nuclear war.

STRATEGY SESSIONS

U.S. diplomats called weekend strategy sessions to examine the dilemma. But the final decision is in the hands of the president, they said.

Khrushchev concealed his attitude on the matter behind a slab of cheese cake.

Reporters, at a reception given by the Afghanistan delegation, asked Khrushchev whether he would heed the neutralist resolution and agree to see Eisenhower.

He forked a piece of cheese cake into his mouth and said:

"This is very delicious pie. While I'm eating, I am deaf and dumb."

Since his arrival in New York, he has appeared to be adamant that the president must take the initiative for any meeting.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker of Canada returned home Friday and disclosed that he had invited Macmillan to visit Ottawa. Mr. Diefenbaker said he was confident Macmillan would be able to accept.

Trainmen Protest

TORONTO (CP) — The Canadian Brotherhood of Railway and Transport Workers (CLC), Local 283, has protested to Prime Minister Diefenbaker the Canadian National Railways' decision to withdraw dining and sleeping car service from its transcontinental train.

NANAIMO — There were cases of pilfering and theft Friday night as goods were brought from blazing Chinatown homes, a prominent Nanaimo Chinese said at the scene of the evening fire.

"We saw white people running off with things as fast as we could bring them out of houses," said Laughman Mah, who lives at 537 Kennedy Street, near Chinatown.

"One man, Henry Wong, lost his house and almost everything he owned, but he managed to save three rifles, which he locked in his car," Mr. Mah said. "While he was away someone broke into the car and stole the rifles."

Communist Fall-Out

DISCLOSURE THAT A SO-called Communist high court of inquiry will be set up to study the controversy over doctrine that is rocking Moscow and Peking, carries significant proof of the seriousness of the Communist breach. It could be serious for more than Communists.

For some months the West has been receiving indications that all was not harmony between the two Communist capitals. In recent weeks the signs have become very urgent. The more or less private differences of opinion between Mr. Khrushchev and Mr. Chou En-lai regarding Chinese actions in the east, United Nations membership and other matters have given way to public argument and even abuse.

Chinese and Soviet publications have abandoned veiled references to counter-revolutionaries and blasphemers. They now have come right out and named names.

The quarrel appears to hinge on interpretation of basic Leninist doctrine. Whereas Mr. Khrushchev favors co-existence with the capitalist world and gradual domination of it through economic means, and quotes Lenin to support his view, the Chinese insist that the militant struggle of the masses must continue through the use of force, and add further quotations from Lenin to prove their point. Indications are that some quarters in Moscow also support this view, with consequent effect on Mr. Khrushchev's

A Valuable New Member

THE FEDERATION OF Nigeria assumed independence as a Commonwealth state today and few if any colonies emerging into nationhood can have done so better prepared.

For this, British foresight is largely responsible. But the people of the new country have been quick to take advantage of the educational and other opportunities open to them. They have entered into the twentieth century with energy and soon will set a good example to the numerous other African territories now governing themselves.

With 34 million people, Nigeria is the most populous country in Africa. Its prospects have attracted overseas capital and much of this is being invested in joint operations with the Government—an interesting partnership of state and private capital that is attracting notice elsewhere.

Roads, hospitals, schools, factories and other facilities are increasing rapidly. Nigerian students in law and other professions study in England, although increasing numbers are attending Nigerian universities and colleges.

With large oil, hydro, and other resources, this is a country with a great future before it and a growing ability to make the best of it. Such a nation obviously will be a great strength to the Commonwealth, and on this day of independence Canada and the other members voice a warm welcome.

Figures Can Fib Too

REV. J. L. MACDONALD, assistant professor of social work at Ottawa's St. Patrick's College, presents the interesting argument that Canadian children today are more law-abiding than their parents were 30 years ago.

An investigating committee found that Victoria's commitments to Brannan Lake were higher, on a per capita basis, than were Vancouver's. Further inquiry revealed that in Vancouver some young people judged delinquent were referred for treatment to agencies created to perform that work. Similar facilities did not exist in Victoria and hence juvenile court judges had no alternative, in many instances, but to send the offender to Brannan Lake.

Conceivably the Rev. Macdonald's statistics reflect an actual improvement in the children. Just as possibly, they indicate an improvement, or at least a change, in the method of handling cases.

Statistics on juvenile delinquency at this point are valuable to a degree, but they do not always provide an accurate comparison between conditions now and 30 years ago.

They Ought to Sweat

DECENT CITIZENS WILL note with satisfaction the decision of police authorities to crack down on gyp outfits which have been victimizing elderly people through the house-repair racket.

It is bad enough to cheat any home-owner on work conducted on his house. It is shoddy to take advantage of older folk who are in no position to do their own repairs and who must depend on the integrity of others to carry out projects for them.

It is to be hoped that police action will result in speedy arrest and conviction of such cheap crooks. When it comes to sentence, perhaps some variant of the law may be found to make them not only make restitution, but carry out a little unpaid repair work for elderly indigents as a form of paying in part their debt to society.

No Deaths From Diphtheria

THE GENERAL DIRECTOR OF the Health League of Canada reports that, for the first time in history, no one in this country died from diphtheria last year.

It is only a few years ago that death from that disease was a tragedy regularly reported in newspapers of Canada. Usually the stories were the more poignant because children were so frequently the victims. Medical science has apparently made a perfect score in avoiding, or in treating, the ailment during last year.

In the future, undoubtedly there will be other deaths from diphtheria because cases will not be caught soon enough or treatment facilities

By FREEMAN KING

ON the southern tip of Vancouver Island at Arde Head there is a small bay called Shaggy Cove.

There can be found some of the wonders of the seaweed family such as the palm and sea sac seaweed.

The palm, growing on the exposed rock and waving in the wind at low tide, looks like miniature palm groves.

Pinch the little sacs and you will get a squirt of water.

The Pacific breakers rolling in from the open sea make a spectacular sight as they crash on the high rocks and rush in amongst the pools.

The sandstone floor of the cove has been smoothed in large areas. Dotting the floor are potholes that range in diameter from a teacup to several feet, and in depth from a few inches to four or five feet.

In these potholes can be found many marvelous sea creatures such as the purple sea urchin. If you turn it on its back it will put the spines to work, roll over and move along the bottom.

The sea anemone, greenish-blue in color, sends out its tentacles like a beautiful flower.

Amongst the large mussels that abound in clusters you can find the slipper limpet, so called because of its odd-shaped shell.

Along the shore line to the west can be seen the volcanic rocks that are like the leaves of a book in layers one upon another, showing in bold relief hard shapes of feldspar that make a hard contrast to the sandstone cliffs.

Entirely Separate Functions of Thinkers and Politicians

THE newspaper correspondents continue to deplore the speeches of the American presidential candidates. They complain that Mr. Nixon and Mr. Kennedy are not uttering great original ideas, only sleek generalities or minor debating points. What else was to be expected?

It is delusion, regularly repeated every four years in the United States and Canada, to expect original ideas from politics. That is not where they come from.

In the realm of abstract thought politicians rarely originate; they imitate, interpret and expand other men's inventions, for better or worse.

It was not always so in simpler times. That unique constellation of thinkers who founded the American republic had ideas of their own, or at all events, they gave an American setting to ideas imported from various European thinkers and achieved a kind of native synthesis.

NOWADAYS, apart from anything else, a presidential candidate or a Canadian party leader is too busy in action to engage much in fundamental thought. Perforce he absorbs the thoughts of men outside politics and remodels them to fit, usually in pretty rough fashion, the necessities of politics which, by its nature, is a process of native synthesis.

IN the present American election, and in the deeper recesses of Canadian politics also, it is not the politician but an outsider who supplies the new ideas, or the latest version of old ideas. Professor Kenneth Galbraith and his Affluent Society inseminate the whole political process in America today.

As a Canadian example, the controversial speech by Mr. Maurice Lamontagne, at the recent Kingston meeting of "liberal-minded" persons, was nothing but a synopsis of Galbraith, almost word for word.

Wide-Eyed in Gotham

THE above was the title of a column which Lionel Shapiro used to write for the McGill Daily in days (how long, alas!) gone by, and I know he won't mind my borrowing it for a few minutes. With all that's going on there just now how could anyone, in New York or out of it, fail to be wide eyed.

There's one thing about the United Nations which I cannot fathom at all: Who's in charge here? A wrestler from the Steppes, bantering from balconies and whacking the top of his desk like any humble Soared backbencher during a budget speech. Here's Teeshot Ike and Mac the Knife, pouring oil on the murky waters, and Dief the Chief making the best of being the cheese in the soon-to-be-grilled sandwich.

All that is lacking is a couple of midgets to represent the small powers. They're missing out on something there. But of course we have the perplexing procedural point of who's who from the Congo, and this must occupy a good deal of time and speculation; making decisions like this must be tough on the promoter. Events move rapidly in this interesting republic.

One day it's Kasvubu, the next it's Lumumbu. They say the St. Regis is full of Congolese delegates who refuse to recognize each other in the elevator; and the management is going crazy trying to decide which of them to send the bill to.

At least this was the situation until a few days ago, when the mysterious Colonel M'boto reappeared from the cupboard in which he had been concealed, and proceeded to take over.

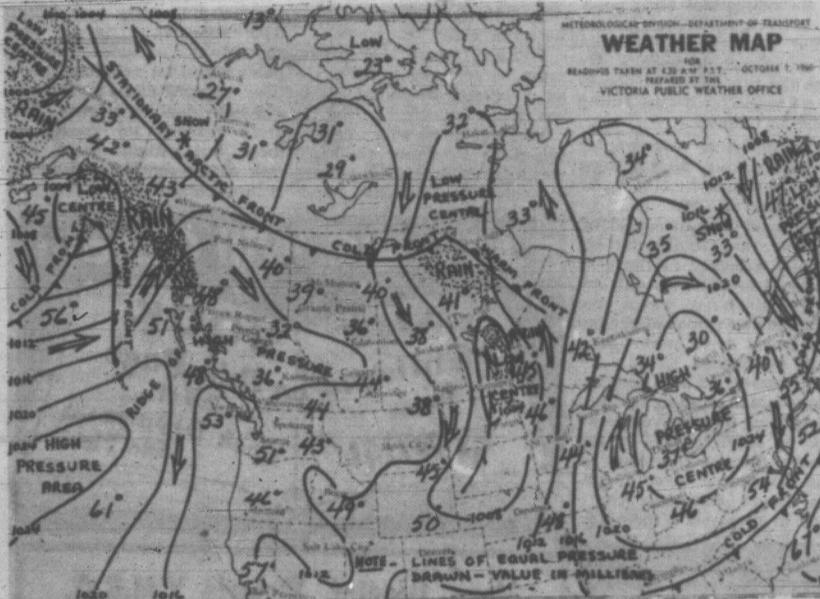

At last report, the St. Regis had given up, and is hoping that the UN itself will pick up the tab. Meanwhile, all the hostile factions have been put on a cash basis in the bar.

We shall never know who is charging admission, I suppose; but whoever he is, he must be the only person in Gotham whose eyes are not stretched to the end limit.

It is unbelievable to the crass commercial soul, such as the one which lurks within the earthly envelope now addressing you, that this is all for free. It just doesn't make sense. People just don't get to watch such entertainment as Nik, Ike, Mac, Dief, Tito and Fidel without someone making money.

The burning question is, who makes it? Sol Hurok? Benny Greenspan? The Metropolitan Opera?

WEEKEND WEATHER PICTURE ACROSS CANADA

SYNOPSIS—The ridge of high pressure which has brought fine weather to the province for the last week or more shows signs of weakening. Cloudiness is increasing along the north coast and some light rain was expected in that area late today as a disturbance moves out of the Gulf of Alaska toward the Queen Charlottes. Some cloud will spread into the south coast on Sunday from the activity further north.

ART IN REVIEW

By ARTHUR CORRY

Two Victoria Artists Make Brilliant Showing

Water-color media, with a mixture of tempura and gouache, depending on the desired effect, are used by Fenwick Lansdowne for his paintings now in the Ker Wing of the Art Gallery. With a factual directness he has recorded the minute details, and with pure, clear color, created precise ornithological studies.

The exacting life-like quality of his subjects, from the sheen of the individual feather, to the fine vein in a king on the feet, class Mr. Lansdowne as one of Canada's greatest bird illustrators. The "Ancient Murrelet" is an outstanding example and one can almost see the heart of Corry's "Clark's Nutcracker," beating beneath the downy breast.

Here we have a rare talent, one who is self-taught and I would say, one with a determination for extreme perfection.

Fenwick was born in 1937, and, with the exception of a few years in the Orient, has lived most of his life in Victoria. This young naturalist, now only 23, has reached a pinnacle of fame few artists living today are able to reach.

The provincial Library was host to his first public exhibition in 1950. National prominence came to Mr. Lansdowne with a large showing at the Royal Ontario Museum in 1956, and he was acclaimed by the critics and public alike. After this show he signed a contract with the T.E.F. Artists, in Toronto, and all his work now has a guaranteed sale through this association.

Next May Fenwick Lansdowne plans to hold his first exhibition abroad, in London, and with such collector's items as the beautiful Barn Owl, Dipper, Buffelhead, Brown Pelican, to name but a few, I am certain he will be highly successful.

Eliza Mayhew

Too few of us in this city realize what a wealth of creative artists we have right here on our own doorsteps. After a visit to "The Point" recently, and viewing an exhibit of sculpture by Eliza Mayhew, I came away highly elated. Here, a born in Victoria artist, is creating works of art

Organists Arrange Programs

A campaign for members among all organists and choirmasters in the Lower Vancouver Island area is being conducted by the Royal Canadian College of Organists, Victoria Centre.

According to chairman Gordon Britton, this move was inspired by the wave of enthusiasm that followed this summer's CCO convention held in Victoria and Vancouver.

And here is something from Anton Chekov: "Drama takes place inside a man, and not in extreme manifestations."

Shooting is not drama: it is an accident; the TV people would be ruined if they ever permitted such a thought to cross their minds. Nor would the TV comics like V. S. Pritchett's remark that "Facetiousness gets shriller and lighter; humor sinks deeper and deeper into its ribald and wicked boots."

It is depressing thus to be reminded how little one knows.

It is a pleasant hobby to collect quotations which are not in the books for your per-

Our Censors Have Their Own Credo

I am fond of a German comment by the late Albert Einstein: "Raffinest ist der Herr Gott, aber Boshaf ist er nicht," which means "God is subtle, but he is not malicious." Equally disturbing is Dostoevsky's comment that "To be too conscious is an illness."

I do not think our censors would agree with Edmund Burke that "Vice loses half its evil by losing all its grossness," though they might give a judgement of their own to the effect that "what is literature in hard covers at $4.50 may be obscene in a 50 cent paperback."

Sometimes, when I am asked to make speeches, I feel like quoting Cyril Connolly's comment that "Writers should be read and not heard, and when people ask me for advice about writing I often do quote Evelyn Waugh, who says that 'the three elements of style are lucidity, elegance and individuality.'

I am also fond of Middleton Murry's definition of a truly great novel — "A tale to the simple, parable to the wise, and a direct revelation of reality to the man who has made it a part of his own being."

Van Wyck Brooks wrote

"There you are: a little bundle of quotations which you will not find in the big quotation books, but which I feel deserve a wider circulation. I have culled them from notebooks I have been keeping since 1950. If you do not like them — which is entirely probable — there is nothing to stop you from making an anthology of your own."

The Newport, R.I. Mercury was established by James Franklin in 1758 and is the oldest continuously published newspaper in America.

Case Skilfully Presented Yet Provokes Dissent

IN SEARCH OF HUMANITY. The Role of the Enlightenment in Modern History. By Alfred Cobban, 1960. Clarke, Irwin & Co. 254 pp. $7.25. Reviewed by H. Senior

The sub-title of this book, "The Role of the Enlightenment in Modern History," suggests its theme. Professor Cobban presents several theses which he fully realizes are controversial. The author credits the philosophers and essayists of the "age of reason" with establishing the humanitarian values accepted in western society today. He believes that Jeremy Bentham and John Stuart Mill deserve a place among the writers of the enlightenment with Rousseau and Voltaire.

The enlightenment is also defended against the charges that its doctrines were responsible for the excesses of the French revolution and for the 20th century totalitarian regimes.

The revolutionaries and the ruthlessness of the Terror were justified by the ideas of nationalism and popular sovereignty. These concepts, Professor Cobban maintains, were developed as a matter of expediency after 1789 and run contrary to the main tendencies of 18th century thought which placed emphasis on individual liberty and human rights.

CRITICISMS "TREASON"

Nationalism was too narrow for its sympathies and "popular sovereignty," that is, the fiction that the government and people could be one, became the pretext for denouncing all criticism of the ruling clique as treason.

This doctrine, so popular with 20th century dictatorships cannot, the author contends, be found prior to 1789.

Professor Cobban considers, however, that totalitarianism is really a legacy of the past and could be accepted only by peoples among whom the humanitarian values of the enlightenment have never been firmly established.

The success of 18th century rationalists in winning western society from the passive acceptance of cruelty was, in the author's opinion, the result of their favourable view of human nature and their confidence in progress. Their age of optimism gave way in the last century to one of pessimism.

He considers this to be partly caused by the failure of the world to accept the standards of enlightenment and partly the result of the romantic movement which, by exalting emotion over reason, discredited rational argument.

Professor Cobban regards this pessimism as one cause of the decline of political theory, which today is largely ignored by practising politicians.

Another cause, he maintains, is the result of efforts to base theories on history and science, which are ethically neutral. He charges Hegel, Marx, and modern academic political scientists with specifically excluding philosophies based on religion, tradition, nature, science, history, and individual conscience.

Political theory, he insists, must be restored to its place as a branch of moral philosophy.

The objections which can be raised to Professor Cobban's views are evident. The setting of western humanitarian standards was a complex development which did not begin nor end in the 18th century. In this, the work of men inspired by religion, the romantic movement, and even Marxism, played their part.

Moreover, writers appealing to religious sentiment, class resentment, or to the emotions were often more influential than those who appealed merely to reason.

HACKED AWAY

On the other hand, the enlightenment is not so easily cleared of the responsibility for totalitarianism. Its disciples, confident in the inevitable triumph of their views, hacked away at traditional moralities and authorities, thus contributing, perhaps in innocence, to the anarchy and near anarchy which opened the door to dictatorship.

Apart from this, the enlightenment has many inconvenient friends — Malthus, for example, and laissez-faire, which was certainly part of it, is regarded as something of a mixed blessing.

The author's insistence that political studies should be restored to their proper place as a moral philosophy would find wide support, if he did not specifically exclude philosophies based on religion, tradition, nature, science, history, and individual conscience.

The objections which can be raised to Professor Cobban's views are evident. The setting of western humanitarian stand-

'CAMELOT' PREMIERE

Tough Canadian Critics Get First Crack at Show

By ISABELLE McCAGN

TORONTO (UPI)—The new Lerner-Loewe musical "Camelot" has its world premiere here tonight, its financial success already assured for nearly a year thanks to its famous predecessor, "My Fair Lady."

The fabulous $2,000,000 advance sale for the musical version of the legend of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table has led "Camelot" press agent Richard May to describe it as "a little obscene."

Obscene or not, the advance sale for the Majestic Theatre run in New York means the $480,000 show can't lose. "Camelot" moves to New York after its debut at Toronto's new O'Keefe centre where it's also sold out.

SOME MAY GO

The first debut of a Broadway show in Canada has Alan Jay Lerner, Frederick Loewe and Moss Hart worried that the audience may not realize the show is still being worked on when they see it and that some numbers may be whisked out if it is found they are not successful.

The audience of 3,200 will be as dazzling as the show. Toronto society is turning out in full force in all its jewels-and-black-tie finery. "Camelot," coupled with the opening of the new theatre, has become the social event of the season.

Added to the attraction is young Robert Goulet, a Canadian virtually unknown outside this country, who the producers are gambling will become a new matinee idol in his role as Lancelot.

My Fair Lady's leading lady Julie Andrews, in a long blonde wig, plays Queen Guinevere to Richard Burton's King Arthur. And Robert Coote, who was Col. Pickering in "My Fair Lady" is King Pellinore.

No hint of the musical score has emerged through weeks of rehearsals, first in New York, and finally here where security guards keep reporters, photographers and curios out of the theatre.

Despite the wonderful bally-hoo and high-priced publicity, even the advance sale is, however, no guarantee of a hit.

Said Lerner: "Frankly we don't expect to repeat it" ("My Fair Lady").

But then their musical hit of the century has broken all records, making a fortune for the participants and nearly edging out "Oklahoma" as the longest-running musical in Broadway history.

TOUGH CITY

Producer Moss Hart, the third man behind "Lady," favored staging the troupe here in the wide spaces of the O'Keefe centre, which incidentally made an offer too good to turn down.

New plays are traditionally tried out in "tough" cities. In this respect, Toronto has no peer. Not only do audiences here have a reputation for being cold, but the critics also are viewed with alarm.

The lack of a Sunday newspaper means the company will have to wait until Sunday night for the morning paper reviews of the tale of noble King Arthur and storied Sir Lancelot, set in medieval England.

Following Camelot's three-week run, Toronto's new theatre, built at a cost of some $12 million to advertise a brewery, will feature famous grandmother Marlene Dietrich, Harry Belafonte, "At the Drop of a Hat," "Raisin" in the Sun" and "Florello."

Choral Director Has Hands Full

Among city groups steadily rehearsing for projected performances, one of the foremost is Victoria Choral Society which plans to present Handel's "Messiah" in December and also a spring concert sometime in April which will feature baritone John Dunbar in a song cycle with chorus.

Music Director Stanley Hoban has selected Peggy Packard, Eleanor Duff, Michael Rogers and Stanley Martin as Messiah soloists.

At the same time Mr. Hoban is busy with Gilbert and Sullivan's "HMS. Pinafore" which also will see a December production at the Royal Theatre. Michael Rogers and Eleanor Duff carry the principal roles of Ralph Rackstraw and Buttercup in this production. Terry French sings Josephine, Norman Tyrrell, the Captain, Ellis Todd, Sir Joseph, and Jim Mead-Robins, Boatswain Bobstay.

Brilliant Contrasts On Oct. Show Bill

Two top items on the October entertainment calendar are equally colorful, vivid and famous and at the same time in striking contrast.

They initiate a series of visiting performances and are presented by Famous Artists.

First, at the Royal Theatre, Oct. 11, there will appear a bewitchingly brilliant one-woman circus in the person of Elsa Lanchester.

This copper-haired, impish actress who in private life is wife to Charles Laughton, has captured audiences by the thousands and thawed the ranks of the world's toughest critics with her bravura solo performance.

On Oct. 21 at Memorial Arena, in complete contrast to the one-woman show, audiences will enjoy the massed spectacle and the world-famous music of the regimental band of the Coldstream Guards, and pipes and drums of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

Both colorfully garbed groups will stage marching and musical displays connected with the proud history of their regiments.

The Coldstream Guards were formed during the Restoration in the mid-17th century, while the Cameron Highlanders were raised by Sir Alan Cameron of Erracht in 1793 and originally consisted almost entirely of men from the Cameron clan.

ENTERTAINMENT CALENDAR

TONIGHT through to Saturday, Oct. 8, 8:15, Langham Court Theatre; Victoria Theatre Guild presents farce-comedy, "Janus."

Sunday, Oct. 2, 3 p.m.; Monday, Oct. 3, 8:30, Royal Theatre; Victoria Symphony Orchestra, Hans Gruber, conductor.

Tuesday, Oct. 11, 8:30, Royal

Theatre: Famous Artists present Elsa Lanchester "Herself" in an evening of mime, dance, satire and song.

Wednesday, Oct. 12, 8 p.m., Royal Theatre: White Heather Concert Party, starring Kenneth McKellar.

Friday, Oct. 21, 8:30, Memorial Arena: Coldstream Guards Regimental Band and Pipes and Drums of Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders, presented by Famous Artists. Box office, Kent's Ltd.

(BB) "THE STORY OF RUTH" (Odeon): Have you read the Old Testament's Book of Ruth recently? It is very simple, very beautiful and very short. It might take 20 or 30 minutes to read, little longer.

Twenty-first Century Fox's CinemaScope, color by DeLuxe version takes two hours to tell. Although it has since moments it becomes unnaturally complex and takes such liberties with the story that has been the inspiration for poets and artists for centuries that one, in the end, can find little relation between the two.

Indeed "The Story of Ruth" should be thought of, perhaps, as a monument to screenwriter Norman Corwin's vivid imagination. For instance, he supplies Ruth with a weird and wonderful early, pre-biblical history, that of a Moabitess priestess in the temple of a stone god who demands human sacrifice.

He accounts also for the death of Naomi's husband and their two sons (one the husband of Ruth) and laces Ruth and Naomi's return to Judah and their subsequent settling there with enough intrigue and action to satisfy any ordinary action fan.

Acting by newcomer Elana Eden as Ruth is satisfactory, but it is Peggy Wood as Naomi who turns in the best performance of all, having very probably read The Book of Ruth.

To Schedule Foreign Films

Hard on the heels of the Swedish hit, "Smiles of a Summer Night," the Plaza Theatre will introduce to Victorian motion picture-goers another foreign film of merit, "The 400 Blows," starting Monday and playing for three days.

"The 400 Blows" — Les Quatre Cent Coups — was the winner of the New York Film Critics prize as Best Foreign Film of the year, winner of the Cannes Film Festival Award, 1959, and winner of the Prix Melies of the Paris Film Critics.

In announcing the import, Steve Allen, manager of the Plaza Theatre, indicated that "Smiles of a Summer Night" and "The 400 Blows" were but the forerunners of a list of top foreign films that his theatre intended bringing to town should attendance warrant.

Elsa Lanchester's fantastic impact on saturated New York audiences has been variously phrased by the critical pundits as, "a breath of fresh air in our smoky night life," "a weird and wondrous world of the wisp... a volume of wonderfully funny ballads all wrapped up in one talented package... to be ranked with Bea Lillie, Fanny Brice and Ethel Merman."

At the same time she has been described as "utterly unique" and as having "a deft, sure flair for satire."

And from Montreal where such talents are appreciated as nowhere else, says Le Canada: "Elle est magnifique!"

Casting To Begin For Opera

Planned production of Purcell's short opera about a tragic queen of Carthage, "Dido and Aeneas," will get its start next week when preliminary auditions for principals and chorus will be held by Prof. Boyce Gaddes at his home, 1345 Victoria Avenue.

Victoria Musical Art Society will present the opera for two performances at Oak Bay Junior High School next January. Production will be under the direction of Audrey Johnson with Prof. Gaddes as musical director.

All interested singers are asked to phone Prof. Gaddes at EV 2-1495. Voices in every category are needed, including soprano, mezzo soprano, alto and tenor or light baritone, for principal parts.

First audition will be held Tuesday evening.

for an effective contrast between the "husband" and "the other man" but it might have been achieved with greater versatility.

The actors generally suffered from that common fault of borrowing each other's tempo. This meant that the play early in its course settled down to a steady, rather ponderous pace—certainly not the right one for a comedy of this type.

Apart from this it ran with fair smoothness for a first night and was well received by the small audience present.

Frankly, the actors had an impossible task with a play that was totally lacking in charm or true sophistication. Perhaps, then, it was as well that scenery and lighting detracted continually from the aimless progress of plot and performance.

IWA URGES CHANGE

Conciliation Laws 'Slow, Cumbbersome'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America (CLC) laid plans Friday for negotiations next spring on its master contract with British Columbia lumber concerns and called for simplification of the province's conciliation laws.

The union's western region, winding up a five-day convention here, described present bargaining procedure under B.C. law as both slow and cumbersome.

Delegates representing the IWA's 33,000 B.C. members also called for elimination of government-supervised strike votes.

The convention urged that consideration be given to negotiation of agreements separately with each of the large operators instead of the present industry-wide agreement.

LACK FREE HAND

Criticizing the present conciliation machinery, the union said conciliation officers lack a free hand in promoting a settlement and conciliation boards have no opportunity to understand the complex problems of the big industry.

It also said conciliation board chairmen "have been prejudiced or subject to pressure from employers."

One proposal put forward for consideration by IWA officers would require direct negotiation for a maximum of 10 days followed by appointment of a mediator if no agreement was reached. The mediator would be empowered to make settlement recommendations.

The delegates endorsed a proposal that the union be entitled to conduct its own strike vote immediately on failure of mediation efforts instead of waiting for the present government vote.

KEY MEN

A committee on bargaining suggested that consideration be given to calling strikes of key employees rather than of all members.

The conference gave considerable attention to forest fire fighting and industrial safety. It urged that the provincial government station helicopters in all major forest areas during the high hazard season to prevent "shameful waste of our forests."

It criticized the government pay scale for forest firefighters and noted that many members are taken from their regular work to fight fires thus suffering substantial pay cuts.

IWA safety director John T. Atkinson said the safety picture in the southern interior is "pitiful."

He said his remarks on the subject were directed at the industry in the area generally and not at the S. M. Simpson sawmills in Kelowna where the record was good. Workmen's Compensation Board regulations generally are being held

Grain Exports In August Showed Rise

WINNIPEG (CP) — Canadian wheat exports during August totalled 23,900,000 bushels, compared with 14,600,000 bushels in July and 21,200,000 bushels in August, 1959.

The Board of Grain Commissioners reported Friday that the main increase in exports resulted from 8,900,000 bushels shipped to the United Kingdom in August, compared with 3,500,000 bushels in July.

Shipments from the northern Manitoba port of Churchill via Hudson Bay was a big factor in the rise in U.K. shipments. Wheat exports through Churchill during the month totalled 9,100,000 bushels — a record for August at the port.

Wheat flour clearances, at 2,800,000 bushels, reflected a slight decline from both July 3,200,000 bushels and from Aug. 1959, 3,100,000 bushels.

Labor Income Down During June, July

OTTAWA (CP) — A 1-per-cent drop in Canada's labor income between June and July was reported today by the bureau of statistics.

Total salaries, wages and supplementary labor income for paid workers were an estimated $1,562,000,000 in July compared with $1,580,000,000 in June. A year earlier, the total was $1,505,000,000.

However, total labor income for the first seven months this year remained above 1959 levels, rising 4.2 per cent to $1,543,000,000.

Main drop from June occurred in Ontario. Labor income in the prairie region was $239,000,000, up $2,000,000; and in British Columbia $170,000,000, down $2,000,000.

in contempt in the southern interior, he said.

The Kelowna firm had taken exception to comments made by Mr. Atkinson at an earlier session.

NEWSPAPER CRITICIZED

VANCOUVER (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America (CLC) passed a resolution Friday strongly criticizing the editorial policy of the Province, Vancouver morning newspaper.

But the convention deleted a section of the original motion urging a boycott of the newspaper.

WEEK IN BUSINESS

Economic Outlook Brighter

By JACK LEFLER

NEW YORK (AP) — The critical fourth quarter has arrived with mounting hopes, and some signs, that the U.S. economy may shake its lethargy and top out 1960 on a better note.

The year began with predictions of a rolling boom. Instead, business levelled off and appeared to be running out of steam.

Some confident predictions and encouraging developments sparked an improved outlook this week.

The stock market took heart and stemmed a five-day decline that carried to lows for the year. It closed the week with a substantial rally.

U.S. Treasury Secretary Robert B. Anderson said the economy is approaching the end of a recession-type adjustment and is headed for a long period of growth without inflation.

"It is my strong view that the outlook for economic activity in this country is favorable, both for the near future and the many years ahead," he said.

Sales Management Magazine, in a fourth quarter projection said:

"Consumer spending is zooming upward, a trend to rebuilding inventories is likely—in fact, most economic factors are adding up to a record-breaking season just ahead in business."

MORE ENCOURAGING

Reporting that sales of farm implements and trucks are more encouraging, president Frank W. Jenks of International Harvester Co. said: "I feel better about business than I did 30 days ago."

Logan T. Johnson, president of Armco Steel Corp., said he felt a gradual pickup in demand for steel has started. The trade publication Iron Age found a better tone in the steel market because of a slight improvement in orders and a growing conviction that inventory liquidation has ended.

Nevertheless, estimated steel production dipped a little last week. Considered a significant development was that domestic machine tool orders in August reached an 11-month high.

Automobile production and sales increased. Output this week was estimated at 137,000 cars, compared with 120,852 last week and 105,720 a year ago. The week's volume put 1960 production 12 per cent ahead of a year ago.

Cadillac Has Dropped Two Luxury Models

DETROIT (AP) — Cadillac for 1961 has dropped two ultra-expensive luxury models and will introduce one sedan seven inches shorter than the rest of the line. Overall length will be 18 feet, six inches, three inches shorter than in 1960, except for the short deck sedan at 17 feet, 11 inches.

Gone are the Eldorado Brougham and the Eldorado Hardtop.

U.S. Imports Fewer Cattle From Canada

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. imports of cattle and calves from Canada have dipped sharply in recent weeks from levels of a year ago.

The government has reported that imports from Canada during August totalled only 7,335 head compared with 17,387 in the same month last year.

222-PASSENGER PLANE OFFERED 'OUTSIDERS'

LONDON (Reuters) — The Vickers Armstrong aircraft firm announced here Thursday it is offering the biggest airline in the world, designed to carry 222 passengers, for sale to foreign airlines.

The new plane will be a development of its Super-V-C-10, a jet-engined 212-seater with a range of more than 4,000 miles already on order for British Overseas Airways Corporation.

WEEK ON MARKETS

Spurt by Golds Sputters Fast

By JOHN PICTON

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Gold issues attracted financial prospectors in a quiet stock market this week.

Following the annual meeting of the International Monetary Fund—always a subject of speculation—and expectation that the United States Treasury would increase the gold price, most senior Canadian producers, such as Dome, Giant Yellowknife, Campbell Red Lake, hit highs for the year.

Then came the treasury's announcement that the price would not be increased and profit-takers were quick to move out, lowering prices to clind and 303 were unchanged, what brokers say is a more realistic level.

By Friday, most prices had pared with the 8,989,000 shares levelled out, and Campbell Red traded last week. Value was Lake even managed to score $23,118,781 compared with $23,452,461.

Of the 370 issues traded at Montreal, 56 advanced, 154 declined and 160 were unchanged.

INDUSTRIALS HOLD

Industrials held up well despite pressure from New York, where the index dropped about 14 points. Toronto industrial index was off .51 at 483.56, with Western oils off 1.26 at 83.42, and base metals up .44 at 151.53.

Paper stocks did little to mark the 150th anniversary of the pulp and paper industry, and International Paper followed New York's trend to hit a low for the year.

MERGER PLANS

LONDON (AP) — Britain's General Electric Co. and the English Electric Co. have announced they are planning to merge.

The firms have combined assets of more than £175,000,000 ($468,000,000). Each company reported a trading profit of more than £11,000,000 last year.

$2 Million Extra Revenue for Railways

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's cross-examination of V. M. Stechishin, chief witness for the Manitoba government's in annual revenues from a freight rate increase expected to go into effect next month in the U.S. informants indicated this week.

The question of the increase proposed by U.S. railroads to go into effect Oct. 24 unless the Interstate Commerce Commission suspends or withdraws it came up before the royal commission on transportation.

It was discussed by Howard Mann, one of the members of the six-man commission, in over 65 cents a hundred who benefit from international rates would probably suffer.

Informants indicated that if and the Canadian railways the increase was not allowed in would likely lose the extra Canadian shippers revenue to U.S. carriers.

WEEK'S WORK

BY JACK BEASTALL

Most of the summer bedding annuals are looking the worse for wear and should be removed. Clear up the beds, dig over the soil and prepare for putting in either bulbs and wallflowers for spring, or permanent plantings of shrubs and perennials.

Rock banks, walls or raised beds constructed during the summer can be planted if the soil has received a thorough watering to settle it.

Hand weed among established rock plants, pushing coarse gravel or stone chips around the necks of those which dislike wet winter soil.

Label, or otherwise mark the site of small plants which lose their leaves and stems during winter. Zauschneria, the Californian fuchsia, is one.

Climbing hybrid teas can still be pruned. Cut out old wood, train in new shoots and some of the younger growths which have flowered this year.

Complete potting of bulbs for winter flowering indoors.

Winter keeping pears and apples have picking dates varying according to the season. These can be ascertained by enquiry at the Dept. of Agriculture, Parliament Buildings, Victoria.

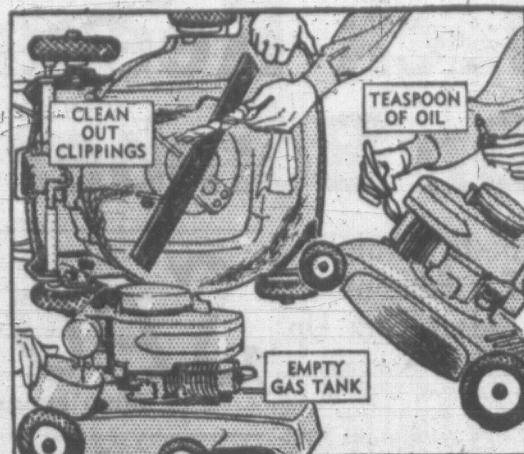

Dig late maturing potatoes dry in sun for few hours if possible.

Make a sowing of carrots, all-year-round lettuces, and radish in well rotted compost bed in a cold frame. Cover until seed germinates, then remove whenever days are sunny and warm, ventilate freely.

Storing mower for winter should be a systematic operation. Important steps are cleaning, emptying and oiling.

Faithful Friend Deserves Fall Care

By MR. FIX

If you store your power mower properly this fall you'll find it ready to cut at the first pull of the starter rope next spring.

If you don't, you will not only have a job ahead of you but you will also find that the life of the mower is appreciably shortened.

CLEAN CLIPPINGS

Put the mower away clean. Knock out the clippings that have piled up under the housing of a rotary mower. On a reel type mower cut away the grass that gets wrapped around the reel shaft.

Scrape away the dirt that's accumulated on blade edges. Brush debris out of cylinder fins, or wipe by wrapping a rag around a screw driver blade.

As you finish cleaning metal parts, wipe them with an oil-soaked cloth. Spread grease on cutting edges of blades.

DRAIN TANK

Leaving fuel in over the winter is dangerous. If it evaporates it will leave a gummy substance behind that can clog up carburetor and fuel line. Drain the fuel tank, line and carburetor. You can run the carburetor dry by running the mower until it runs out of fuel.

Some tanks are removable for draining. Other mowers must be tipped or turned over to permit the fuel to drain out.

Next remove the spark plug and pour a teaspoon of clean oil into the opening. Turn the flywheel a few times to distribute oil on cylinder walls.

While you have the plug out, examine it. Chances are it can stand cleaning.

REPLACE PLUG

If the plug is too badly worn, get a new one now. Replace the plug and tighten after you've put in the oil.

Take the air filter off and clean it. The filter usually consists of bits of screen wire and steel wool. Soak the pieces in gasoline (working outdoors or in a well-ventilated room) and reassemble when they are dry.

Oil and grease all lubrication points. Tighten all bolts.

CHIMNEY CHANGE

Such spots will be found in most gardens, often only large enough to accommodate one plant and therefore overlooked.

They can be formed by a section of the house wall between the steps and a projecting garage, or by the wall, the steps, and an outside chimney projection.

Even the base of a chimney alone can change the climate of the area immediately adjoining. We often hear from gardeners who have daffodils near a chimney which flower in December, indicating the possibilities of such a spot if the bulbs were replaced with a desirable plant less hardy in a different micro-climate.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—You think you know how Casey Stengel does it, but you're never sure. He tells you just enough and makes you guess the rest. Danny Murtaugh, who manages the Pittsburgh Pirates, holds it all back. It is as if baseball is a repulsive subject to him, and he discusses it with a cranky reticence as if his knowledge of the game was personal property and should not be shared.

The styles of all managers vary. But seldom have two in a World Series been less alike. Their teams are different and their personalities seem to have been formed for their separate tasks.

Always Stengel suggests a salesman of a rare and precious commodity which he alone correctly values. He is an explainer of mysteries, a minstrel telling history in a private language, a comedian who is also a pedagogue. He is a public man who lectures the world.

The players he manages often seem like a juggler's props and he grants them as much independence as a shepherd gives his flock. He turns them as a drover directs cattle and forces them to obey his orders with a contemptuous regard for their theories.

The other way is Murtaugh's. His players are encouraged to assist their skills with creative ideas. They are expected to know what to do even in complicated situations. Their decisions are solicited. It is as if he was one of them, more a partner than a supervisor.

There are some who contend that Murtaugh's main contribution is his silence. They claim he assists his team by not interfering with it, but permits a game to follow a natural course. Of course, this is an exaggeration.

This is a club that has been together long enough to evaluate him as a manager. It is a young team, but they're not inexperienced kids. They respect him and brag about his talent. But they can't tell you exactly what it is.

Another guy who manages this way is Jimmy Dykes, but he is a clubhouse monologist who can describe a play with either sarcasm or pride. But his approach is similar to Murtaugh's because he declines credit and insists the ball players function at their trade with only vague suggestions. Never does Murtaugh indicate that he influences his troupe in any way. It happens and you see it. That's as far as he wants to go.

They're a glad team, but finished fourth last year after coming second in '58. They might have drifted into the second division this season, their faith in themselves ruined by their unexpected descent. They dropped back because Bob Friend and Bill Mazeroski ran to fat.

Injuries also impeded them, but the decline of Friend and Mazeroski was responsible for their temporary disintegration. But Murtaugh never mentioned that. He spoke about the people who were hurt and never embarrassed Friend or Mazeroski.

That isn't Stengel's way. But it is Murtaugh's, and it brought the team closer to him. There are guys on the Yankees who loathe Stengel, but he doesn't placate them with flattery. The Pittsburgh guys are grateful to Murtaugh. They return his loyalty. They rejoice in his confidence in them.

Generally, ball players, who are migratory laborers, accept a relationship with a manager as a casually brief association soon to be terminated. But Murtaugh becomes a kind elder brother when his players talk about him. Ball players put out for themselves, but they also want to do it for Murtaugh. They give me the impression they owe him a debt they want to repay.

The players on the Yankees are often penalized for one bad play. The lineup changes every day. Guys are switched to alien positions. It is that sort of a team, but Stengel shaped it to his image. He makes many moves in a game and he doesn't wait. Players are infuriated because they consider Stengel impatient and harsh in his rapid appraisals. They regard him as a mean boss who knows his business.

The Pirates are another kind of team. The player who gets a position holds it until he has proved he is not right for the spot. Of course, Murtaugh alternates first basemen, his catchers and frequently gets Gino Cimoli into his outfield when a left-handed pitcher throws against him.

But he struggles to maintain a regular batting order. There is not much complaining on a club when it is obvious that the best man holds down the job. That also accounts for some of the help's affection for Murtaugh.

He likes them to improvise plays. Such as Dick Groat never has to consult him to put on the hit and run. He lets them alone and doesn't harass them with signalled instructions.

Murtaugh advises and doesn't talk about it. Stengel commands and takes the bows. Both systems worked this year. Managers are fired when they lose. They should be honored when they win. It doesn't matter how they do it.

Drakes Set Sights On Crucial Points

Injuries continue to plague Victoria Drakes as the city's next Saturday and then journey to Kamloops for an exhibition meeting with Cougars on Thanksgiving Day.

Demeter Ties Series Mark

TORONTO (CP)—The Little World Series moved to Louisville today with Toronto Maple Leafs carrying a 2-1 edge in the best-of-seven round.

Leafs dumped Louisville Colonels 6-2 Friday night on a two-point edge over Drakes. Demeter's big bat. His power at the plate was a key factor in Leafs' 10-1 victory in the second game after they dropped the opener 4-1.

The powerful third baseman equalled a Little World Series record as he blasted two home runs Friday night and drove in four runs.

Victoria passes up league activity next weekend, but will be kept busy with two exhibitions. Drakes meet Seattle

'TREATMENT' OF HORSES GANG'S WORK

LONDON (AP)—Detectives are keeping close watch on an alien gang suspected of a plot to dope race horses and cheat the bookies at British tracks.

The Stock Club, ruling body of British horse racing, says the gang is suspected of masterminding the doping scandals that have rocked the nation's race tracks and stables this summer.

In the last few months, police have investigated at least nine cases of strongly favored horses. Five men are awaiting trial on doping charges.

Purchase of Mounties Stalled

VANCOUVER (CP)—Milwaukee Braves executives are on their way home today, their projected purchase of the Vancouver Mounties baseball club stalled at least until after the World Series.

Representatives of the National League team met Friday with Mounties executives, but the two sides weren't able to agree on terms of the proposed sale.

Nat Bailey, president of the Mounties, said negotiations will continue later. In the meantime, "other avenues" for sale of the club will be investigated.

Milwaukee President Joe Cairns and Vice-President Birdie Tebbetts came here to negotiate for purchase of the triple-A Mounties as a Brave farm team.

The Mounties, owned by Bailey, several other Vancouver businessmen and a large group of small shareholders, have debts of about $60,000 and shareholders approved sale of the club to the highest bidder at a meeting several days ago.

Jack Keeps Eskimos On Bomber Heels

Sixth Straight For Edmonton; Riders Perk Up

EDMONTON—Edmonton Eskimos, once all but counted out of the race for first place in the Western Interprovincial Football Union, are making headway in their bid to overhaul Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Eskimos, getting a mighty scare from the suddenly improved Saskatchewan Roughriders, moved to within two points of front-running Winnipeg Friday night by defeating the last-place Riders 9-2.

Now the pendulum swings to Winnipeg, where tonight the Bombers face Calgary Stampeders in a game that can be a vital one to both sides, ergo: Bombers get a chance to improve their hold on first while the hungry Cowboys need the two points to overhaul third-place B.C. Lions in the race for the last playoff spot.

(Tonight's game will be televised on channels 2 and 6, starting at 8:30 p.m.)

PARKER HERO

Friday night, 14,997 Edmonton fans sat in on a game that featured bruising line play and great defensive thrusts. A last-quarter touchdown by Jackie Parker brought the Eskimos out of the fire in this one.

Until 7:50 of the fourth quarter, the last-place Riders led 2-1. Then Parker turned the tide by driving-around end for the game's only touchdown.

It was the Eskimos' sixth straight win and moved them to within two points of Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

Not only did the Roughriders miss a chance to move to within one point of fourth-place Calgary, but they also lost again—the services of quarterback Bob Ptacek who re-injured an ankle.

OUT TWO WEEKS

Coach Ken Carpenter said after the game Ptacek may be out for as long as two weeks. Saskatchewan end Jack Gotta, injured in the third quarter, was reported in good condition and is expected to play in the club's next outing.

Ferdie Burket and Reg Whitehouse collected Roughrider singles. Vic Chapman picked up two Eskimo singles and Tommy Joe Coffey converted Parker's touchdown to round out scoring.

Roughriders threatened several times during the second half before Edmonton started the relentless ground march which produced the touchdown. Then, with the time running out, alternate Saskatchewan quarterback Ron Adam stunned the crowd when he dropped deep into his own end zone and uncorked a 52-yard pass to end Bob Renn.

The Roughriders' bid, however, fizzled to nothing on the next play as Don Stephenson intercepted an Adam pass which resulted in the last Eskimo point.

Extra Effort Jimmy's Key To Money Box

By HAL MALONE

He can't finish like Bud Giacomelli. He hasn't the sensitive rating touch of Charley Ulrich.

And he's not an expert bull-ring rider like Delmar Jones.

But every time you turn around at Sandown Park, you find Jimmy Broomfield close by the money.

He finished second to Giacomelli, his acknowledged peer, at Vancouver. He's leading the parade at Sandown. He's killing them with consistency.

Horsemen seek his talents. They should. Aboard seven Friday, he rode two winners, a second, two thirds.

In the first eight days he's finished no worse than third on 33 of 45 mounts.

While he has no particular outstanding talent, he has two things which many riders lack—try and courage.

Grin, a l'most taciturn, Broomfield will and does take the kind of calculated risk seldom recommended by life insurance underwriters. That is, he'll "thread the needle" (go through a narrow opening) if in his good judgment he thinks it's the thing to do.

He threaded the needle and gave it his usual mighty try Friday with Jimmy Wish in the finale. Nobody told Broomfield that Jimmy Wish hadn't been in the money in two

ONCE WITH BEST

Less successful but also scintillating were rides given by Del Jones and Fernando Auger.

Jones once "had it"—he rode on recognized tracks with some of the best. At 35 it takes just a little more out of a fellow steering half a ton of horseflesh around the bends and Delmar graduated (in reverse) to the bushes.

He beat a hasty path with Pacific Rose in the third. Taking the lead with an especially alert start he held the Rose together in the lane when she threatened to call the whole thing off.

SIMILAR COUP

Auger pulled a similar coup with Bob's Reward. He stuck to the rail while Charley Ulrich, displaying usual caution, elected to take the overland with the favorite, Lady J.

The Lady is good—but not good enough to lose untold lengths. The wisdom of Auger was apparent in the last 16th when Lady J just couldn't catch Bob's Reward—let go at a juicy 7-1.

MUTUEL MURMURS

Riding bouquets belong, too, to young George Miller (Sir Jungle—$6.80) and Bobby Cormack (Bro Chas—$8.20) . . .

In the eighth round at Aotearoa today, Thomson shot a two-over-par 72, Player and Stan Leonard of Vancouver each had 71 and American Mike Souchak 73.

With the final 18 holes to be played Sunday, aggregate scores are Thomson 564, Player 566, Leonard 570, and Souchak 579.

COWBOYS TRIPPED

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Bob Freeman blocked two tries for extra points and that, combined with a great pass defense, brought Philadelphia Eagles 27-25 victory over Dallas Cowboys in a National Football League game Friday night.

Charlie Goodwin, sans invitation, turned up, requested permission to try out with the Cowboys.

Youngest of three hockey-playing brothers from Saskatchewan, Charlie was one of the last players cut from the Victoria team last season.

Goodwin finished out last season in the International League after his trial with the Cats.

"I like that," said Agar. "Charlie came a long way, so it shows you that he's a determined player. He wants to play, and that's important in the making of any good athlete.

"From what I understand, Goodwin almost made the grade last year," added the rookie Victoria coach. "If he picked up any experience in the International League, then he could be a real surprise."

NO WORD

Agar's main worry Friday was the fact he has not heard from winger Jack McLeod, obtained in a deal with Calgary Stampeders. There was some speculation around the Victoria camp that McLeod may decide to retire from hockey.

In all, 16 players reported for the opening session. Among the missing, defenceman Don McLeod, winger George Ford and goalie Marcel Pelleter are expected this weekend.

As well, Agar is still negotiating with holdover centre Paul Masnick and for Portland-owned defenceman Pete Wright.

Cougars will work out twice a day until their first exhibition game Oct. 7.

Steam-Rolling Yanks Earn Favorite's Role

By UP INTERNATIONAL

A brand new home run record and that same old Yankee luck—add 'em together and you know New York is ready for the World Series.

The Yankees are 7-5 favorites over Pittsburgh Pirates, but the odds may be going up as the American League champions stay red-hot and the National League champions stumble around in a general let-down.

The Yankees set a new league mark of 192 home runs in a season and then rallied with a smile from Lady Luck for three runs in the ninth to beat Boston Red Sox, 6-5, and run their winning streak to 13 games Friday night while the Pirates took it on the chin, 13-2, from the Milwaukee Braves. It was the fourth straight game the Pirates lost to the Braves.

OTTAWA (CP)—Bobby Simpson, veteran end with the Big Four football league, will be honored at a testimonial dinner here Oct. 17.

The 30-year-old player is playing his 11th season with Riders.

Yankees broke their own single-season home run mark when Tony Kubek and rookie Jesse Gonder connected but stalled, 5-3, going into the ninth. Then they staged a typical "flash rally" to tie the score and got the "gift" winning run when rookie second baseman Mariano Coughtry mopped up a double

GIVE HIM TIME, LON— THIS IS A BIG WORLD!

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—Before Lon Holcomb would buy a bird dog, he wanted to make sure it would point, back, retrieve and stand to wing and shot.

He especially wanted to know if the dog would cover ground.

"That dog would cover the world if you let him," the seller assured Holcomb.

So Holcomb paid $300 for the dog. The next day he took him to a big field for tryout.

The dog started running and has not been found yet.

ALL-STAR GAME TONIGHT

Rocket Misses For First Time

(From CP Reports)

Maurice (Rocket) Richard, hockey's all-time great scorer, will be missing from the ice for the first time tonight when Montreal Canadiens meet the National Hockey League All-Stars in the 14th annual All-Star game.

Richard, who announced his retirement two weeks ago after an 18-year career with the Canadiens, played in all 13 previous games.

Another all-time great also will be missing. He is Ted Lindsay, who retired last summer after 16 years with Detroit Red Wings and Chicago Black Hawks. Lindsay holds the record for most points in all

Birdie Putt Gives Velda Colwood Title

A 10-foot birdie putt on the last green dropped the Colwood women's club champion on Mrs. Velda Skillings' mantelpiece.

The Colwood ladies' captain defeated Mrs. T. A. P. Jackson, tourney medalist, one up in Friday's 18-hole final.

Flight prizes went to Mrs. T. Roberts, Mrs. H. Downday and Mrs. W. Hagel. Mrs. Roberts took the consolation away by defeating Mrs. S. Evans, one up, while Mrs. Downday won second-flight honors with a 5 and 4 win over Mrs. W. Smith. Mrs. Hagel won the third flight with a two-up win over Mrs. A. Wescott.

Benning Event Starts Tuesday

Ladies of the Victoria Golf Club will open play for the Benning Cup Tuesday.

Draw follows:

1ST TEED: 1. Harris, Morris; 2. D. McCall, R. Hayes; 3. H. Hayes, McRae, Oberough; 4. H. Hadley, Olson, Portt; 5. G. H. Hayes, D. E. C. Wilson; 6. H. H. Ellis, Keyes, Gillis; 7. Chapman, Leach, Norris.

2ND TEED: 1. H. Hayes, Moore, Hazel-Green; 2. D. E. C. Wilson, Baisa, McDonald; 3. G. H. Hayes, J. H. Hayes, Rodriguez; 4. H. H. Ellis, G. Ellis, Wair, R. B. Wilson; 5. Simons, Bleakney, Hall; 6. H. H. Hayes, M. B. Gunnison; 7. G. H. Hayes, Morrow, Wright.

BUILDING 1962 WORLD CUP SQUAD

England's Soccer Brass Taking Long-Range View

LONDON (CP)—When England's soccer selectors meet to name the team to oppose Ireland in the opening game of the international championship, they will be looking far ahead.

Their objective is to mould at least the nucleus of the 1962 World Cup squad on whose showing so much of Britain's declining soccer prestige depends.

Last year the England team recorded one win, three draws and three defeats, possibly its worst performance. Only wing-half Ron Flowers survived all seven matches.

AIR DISASTER

In 1957, when England was undefeated in an eight-match program, observers hinted at an international recovery just in time for the 1958 World Cup in Sweden.

Any hopes of winning that year crashed with the Manchester United team at Munich. Three of the victims of the air disaster—Roger Byrne, Duncan Edwards and Tommy Taylor—now would have been experienced internationals.

Coinciding with the loss of star games—10, on five goals and five assists.

(The game will be televised on channels 3 and 6, starting at 5 p.m.)

Although most of the NHL all-stars and the Stanley Cup champion Canadiens took in the annual all-star dinner, three major league clubs still managed to chalk up lopsided victories in exhibitions Friday night.

Chicago, lacking four all-stars, still had enough punch to defeat Sudbury Wolves of the Eastern Professional League, 7-1.

Detroit Red Wings, in their 10th straight pre-season triumph, defeated the Western League's Winnipeg Warriors 5-1. Boston racked up five goals in the first frame and went on to an 8-1 triumph against Kingston Frontenacs.

Detroit, skating strongly despite the fact it was the club's 10th game in 11 days, swarmed all over the Warriors and forced Winnipeg goalkeeper Harry Lumley to make 46 saves—most of them difficult.

TWO FOR OLIVER

Murray Oliver scored twice and Gord Howe, Val Fonteyne and Norm Ullman connected with singles. Gerry Brisson scored for the Westerners to spoil the shutout for Detroit's Terry Sawchuk.

Boston was paced by Johnny Bucyk and Guy Gendron, who got two each. Singles went to Vic Stasiuk, Bronco Horvath, Billy Carter and Eric Erikson. Kingston's lone tally was scored by George Gosselin.

In another exhibition game, Buffalo Bisons of the American League edged the EPHL's Kitchener-Waterloo Beavers, 4-2.

At Sudbury, the Back Hawks skated circles around Sudbury's Wolves, outshooting them, 20-1, in a dazzling five-period assault.

Ed Litzenberger scored twice for Chicago. Other goals went to Murray Balfour, Tod Sloan, Reg Fleming, Ken Wharham and Eric Nesterenko. The sudbury goal was by defenceman Jack Hendrickson.

Holiday Tourney For Fivepinners

A Thanksgiving Day doubles competition for city fivepin bowlers will be run by Esquimalt Alleys.

Merchandise and cash prizes will be awarded for the one-day handicap meet that will be comprised of shifts at 11 a.m. and 1, 3 and 5 p.m.

During the week at Esquimalt, Marg Goldie set a season high for ladies with an 805 series, including a 340 game.

Reg Waggoner boosted his average another point to 264 with a fine 811 (325).

Other scores at Esquimalt included: Emil Liska 799 (308), Harry Smith 783 (304), Al Majorki 787, Bob McLeod 770, Frank Fairless 763, and May Wallis 761.

At Gibson's Walt Creed rolled an 849 (335) to head the scoring list.

After him were J. Bowers 816 (322), Ced McRae 758 (301), Wilt Mitchell 756 (323), Scotty Robinson's 805 (343) was high score at Strathcona in front of Derek Leonard 768, Hugh McWhirter and Dave Allan 764.

Best at Capital City were Russ Bird 766 (339) and Irene McKay 717.

A general meeting of the Victoria Fivepin Association will be held Sunday at 1:30 p.m. in Newstead Hall, 724 Fort St. Representatives from all leagues in the area are asked to attend.

Hawk Coach Hoping For Faster Start

By RUDY PILOUS

Coach, Chicago Black Hawks

ST. CATHARINES, Ont. (UPI)—We're going into this National Hockey League with two objectives: To finish in the playoffs for a third straight time, something we haven't done in years, and to step up to second place.

With a good start, we could achieve our goals. Last year we couldn't score goals with any consistency for 15 or 20 games. Then we got our lines straightened away and we were all right.

I'm satisfied we've had our best training camp ever. Except for minor ailments, the boys are all right and I'm making few changes. Glenn Hall, our all-star goalie, is as agile as ever, and I don't see any reason why Bobby Hull can't lead the league in scoring again.

As McDonald, whom we acquired from the Canadiens, should help us off left wing. He's playing with sophomore Stan Mikita at centre, and they belong together like ham and eggs. Ken Wharham, who'll get more work on right wing, has his old dashin' speed.

The first line with Hull, Billy Hay and Murray Balfour should start right in where they left off. I can't see that sophomore Jinx bothering Hay.

I've switched Ed Litzenberger to centre, Ron Murphy and Eric Nesterenko on the third line, and except that they've been slowed by injuries, they look fine.

SPOT ASSIGNMENTS

That leaves the veteran Tod Sloan to be spotted and Earl Balfour for penalty killing, though I don't know yet with whom.

I'm sticking by my five defenders of last year—Pilote, Vasko, Arbour, Evans and St. Laurent. No sense changing. They did a wonderful job, and they show no loss of speed.

But I'm adding one fellow, Reg Fleming, who's up from Kingston. He can play almost anywhere and he's tough.

I don't know whether to laugh or cry over Toe Blake's (Montreal coach) observation that he considers us the team to beat. He's been saying that for three years now, and it didn't exactly pan out that way the first two years.

Stock Returned As Hoop Prexy

Closing date for entries in the Saanich Suburban Basketball League is Oct. 24 and the season will start Nov. 4.

The deadline was fixed Thursday at a meeting which re-elected Ernest Stock as president.

Other officers are: Stanley Bokford, vice-president; William Weir, second vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Butler, interim secretary-treasurer; Mrs. M. Peard, registrar; Claud Stagg, member.

Ruth Davidson Booster Prexy

Mrs. Ruth Davidson has been elected president of the Victoria Cougar Booster Club.

Also elected were: Robert Nicholls, vice-president; Ivy Ann Melnyk, secretary; Keith Reeves, treasurer; Bobbie Whittaker, publicity.

Yanks Turning Test Into Rout

ARDMORE, Pa. (AP)—Four American golfers found Merion's lush fairways and soft, smooth greens to their liking Friday as they turned the second world amateur golf team championship from a simple runaway into a complete rout.

A 67 by Billy Hyndman and 68 by Bob Gardner and Jack Nicklaus gave the United States a best-three team score of 203 for the day and a three-round aggregate of 616. These three Americans were so good on the first sunny day of the tournament that a one-under-par 69 by national amateur champion Dean Beman was not counted in the team total.

After Friday's round, Canada stood in sixth place with a 672, one stroke ahead of Rhodesia-Nyasaland. Canadian scores Friday were: Keith Alexander, Calgary, 77; Robert Wylie, Calgary, 73; Gary Cowan, Toronto, 72, and John Johnston, Vancouver, 81. Johnston's score didn't count toward the best-three team score.

Australia moved into second place at 654-38 strokes behind the Americans. South Africa was next at 660, followed by New Zealand, 662, and Mexico 669.

Plans for expansion were unveiled Friday night at the annual general meeting of the Lower Vancouver Island Badminton League.

A total of 36 senior teams are expected to play and junior leagues will be run for players under 17 and under 19 years.

League play will start soon after Oct. 14 which is the deadline for entries.

Elected president at the meeting was Jim Massey. Other officers are: Russ Atkinson, vice-president; Elsie Cooley and Norm McDowell, directors.

FULL HOUSE AT CPR WHARF

Where Do They Go From Here?

Tied up and/or up for sale are sleek white Princesses of the CPR fleet which used to churn the waters of the Inner Harbor on a year-round basis.

Now, with the advent of air transportation, and road-and-water ferry services with shorter times at sea, the B.C. Coast Service is compelled to lay up its "pocket liners" during winter months.

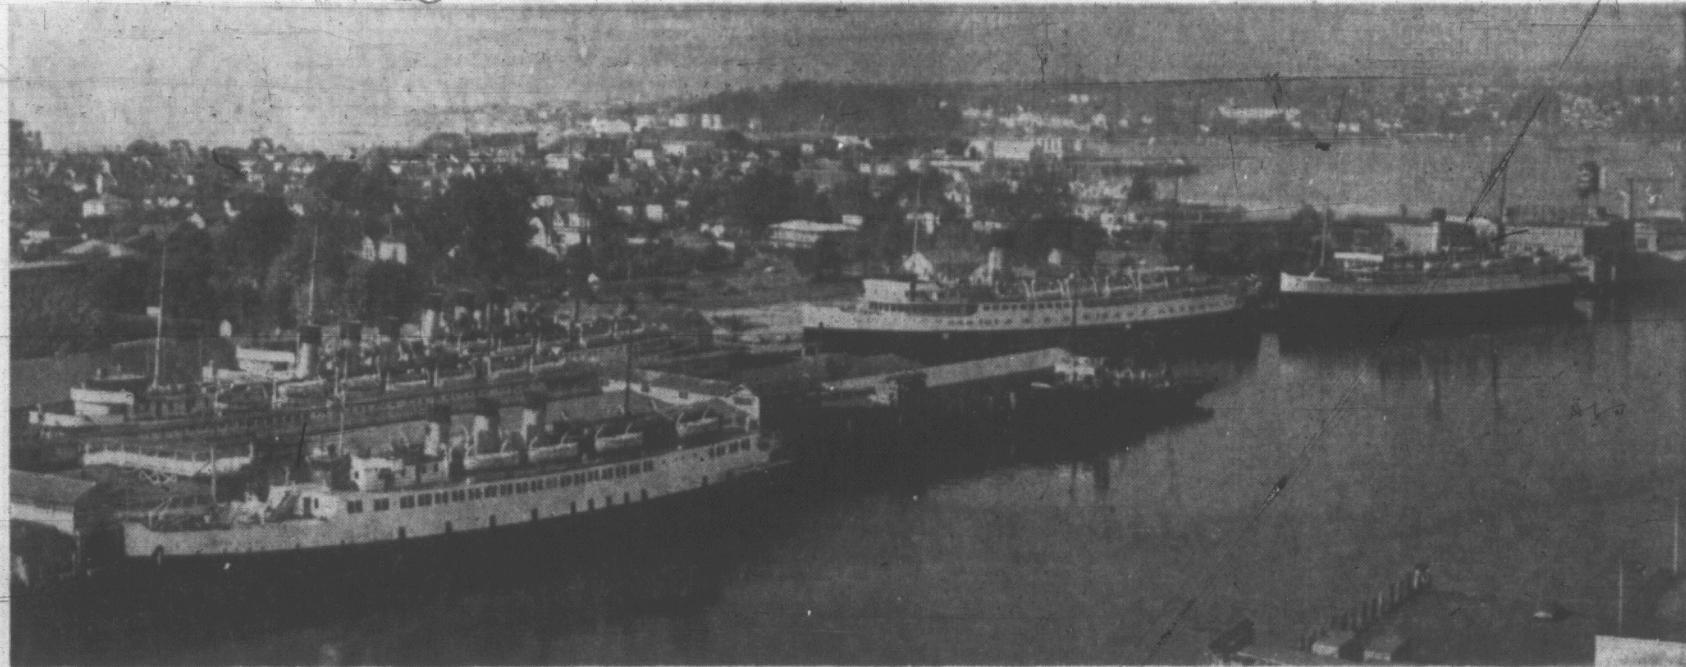

Two of the ships in the photo at right are definitely up for sale — the former night steamers Princess Joan and Princess Elizabeth. Best guess is they'll be sold to a Japanese shipbreaker.

Possible candidates for sale in the near future are two even more elderly ladies of the fleet — Princess Elaine, built in 1928, and Princess Louise, whose natal year was 1921.

Elaine has been used as a "swing" or relief ship during the summer. Last winter, in response to indignant outcries of Victoria citizens, Elaine provided a once-daily service to Vancouver.

Since Princess Kathleen sank in 1952, the venerable Princess Louise has been used on the Alaska cruise run during the summer, and has rested each winter.

One of the many rumors floating around the waterfront has it that Princess Marguerite (with her sister Princess Patricia, a lovely young 12 years of age), will be converted for the Alaska run.

SIGNS POINT TO CAMPAIGN SUCCESS

Chest Opens With Theatre Rally

The 1960 Greater Victoria Community Chest campaign officially gets under way Sunday evening with a rally for canvassers and chest workers in the Odeon Theatre.

The campaign is already well on its way towards its $350,000 goal with a total of $42,500 collected to date.

Last year's campaign fell nearly $25,000 short of its goal of $325,000. Agencies, however, did not suffer because the total was made up by the chest's own contingency reserve fund.

"But this year the reserve fund just isn't large enough," executive secretary A. G. Gilmore said. "If we don't make our goal we'll have to cut back on the agencies."

At the moment, everything points to a successful campaign.

Campaign chairman, Bernard Van Aggelen, said today he hopes the Odeon Theatre will be filled for Sunday's rally.

Chief item of the show, which starts at 8:30, is the Victoria premiere of a new Terry Thomas comedy, "Make Mine Mink." A 28-piece orchestra, courtesy of Musicians Local 247, will be in attendance.

It is expected Mayor Percy Surrath and Mr. Van Aggelen will make short addresses.

FAMILY BEQUESTS

'Silver Fox' Leaves Estate Of $287,000

Lester Patrick, Canada's famed Silver Fox of the hockey world, left estate valued at nearly $287,000.

Mr. Patrick died in Royal Jubilee Hospital last June 1 at the age of 76.

His will, probated at Victoria courthouse, discloses that the gross value of Mr. Patrick's estate at the time of his death was $286,943.93.

A regular income from investments goes to his widow, Mrs. Grace Patrick, who lives in Victoria at 242 Linden Ave., and Mr. Patrick made bequests to the other members of his family.

He left $20,000 to his son Joseph Lynn Patrick, who is general manager of the Boston Bruins hockey team, and $20,000 to his son Frederick (Muzz) Murray Patrick, general manager of the New York Rangers.

Mr. Patrick left $5,000 to his brother, the late Frank Alexis Patrick of Vancouver and $5,000 to his sister, Lucinda Victoria Millar, widow of J. Wesley Millar.

He also left $5,000 to his sister, Myrtle Eleanor Scott, widow of W. M. Scott of Vancouver and $5,000 to his brother, Guy Watterson Patrick.

Another brother, William Stanley Patrick, was left $5,000.

The same amount was bequeathed to a sister, Mrs. Dore Carmel Strickland, widow of Gordon Strickland of Deep Cove.

Mr. Patrick appointed his sons, Lynn and Murray, to be executors of his estate with the Royal Trust Company of Victoria.

Women

Victoria Daily Times SATURDAY, OCT. 1, 1960 19

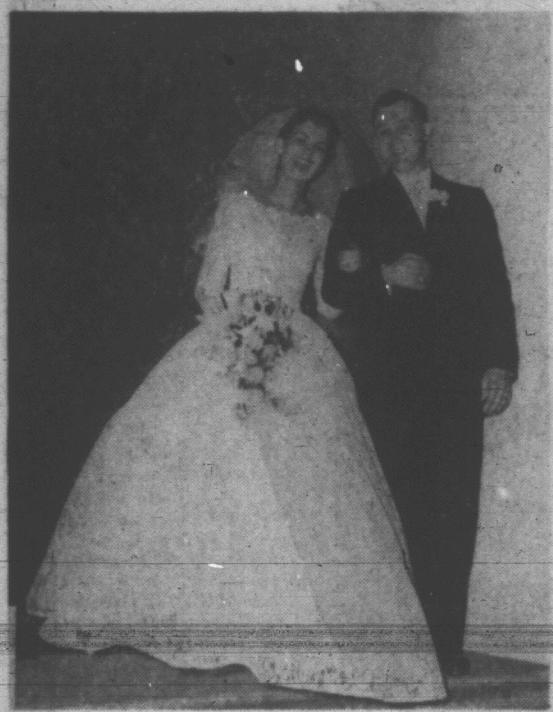

Mr. and Mrs. D. R. K. Easton, nee Miss Judy Bigmore, were married in Oakland Chapel here in late summer. They are now living in Chilliwack. (Photo by S. H. Draper.)

Church of Our Lord was setting earlier this month for the wedding of Dr. and Mrs. William Stanley Birch, nee Miss Gertrude Olive (Babs) Ballard. Couple are now living in Huntsville, Ont. (Photo by Jorgen Svendsen.)

Crossed swords of a naval guard of honor greeted Lieut. James Alexander McCullum, RCN, (R), and Mrs. McCullum, when they left St. John's Anglican Church following their wedding. Parents of the couple are Hon. Hugh L. Keenleyside and Mrs. Keenleyside of Victoria and Rev. and Mrs. A. C. McCullum of Kingston, Ont. (Photo by Harry Fillion.)

A wedding of wide interest that took place last weekend united Darshan Kaur Gill, daughter of Hardial Singh Gill, president of the Khalsa Diwan Society, 1210 Topaz Avenue, and Mohinder Singh, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Mohan Singh Jobl, who brought the young man home from India at the end of last year, after they visited there. Pictured in the wedding party, from the left, bridal attendants, Miss Ranjeet Bakhtaur, Victoria, and Mrs. Harjeet Sangara, Vancouver; the groom and his bride and two other attendants, Miss Mohindar Kaur Sangha, Victoria, and Miss Seso Sidhu, Vancouver. ## SHOPPING GUIDE

Newest Handbags in Town
Bound to Surprise You!

By PENNY SAVER

Have you seen the new "marshmallow leather" handbags that have just arrived in town? If you haven't you're in for a big surprise for, although they're really made of plastic, they're as soft and supple as the finest leather. Coming mostly in popular pouch design, bags are available in either black, brown, tan or dark green. All are lined in silk and have attractive gilt frames and clasps. Handbags are priced at $7.95 and $8.95.

Another line made in this exciting plastic has been imported from France. All handbags in this shipment are priced at $5 and there are several designs from which to choose.

Black handbags have smart contrast linings of red silk. Brown ones are lined in beige while navy blue handbags have matching silk linings. Store assistant tells me that treatment with saddle soap will keep these Parisian creations as smart as the first day you saw them.

For those who love to wear copper costume jewelry here's good news. Through a new process, one Canadian firm is able to sell sets of matching earrings and pin for only $2. A copper wash is used over metal-based jewelry. Designs are most attractive, being mainly in leaf or futuristic pattern. One particularly striking set has an imitation jade stone highlighting scroll work on brooch.

Most unusual are sets of pins and earrings that are now available in a matt black base with trim of silver. These, too, are all priced at $2 a set. Many of them are in the shape of leaves or flowers but there is one little gem of a set that has dainty silver butterflies skimming over a black background. If you've been looking for something just a little bit different in the way of costume jewelry you should certainly take a look at these.

If you would like to know where Penny shopped today give her a ring at EV 2-3131.

Gifts in Cake

A three-tier wedding cake held gifts for Miss Patricia Lore at a surprise shower given by Mrs. R. Lum and Miss Maye Lum at Ming's Kitchen, recently. A white gardenia corsage was presented to the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. C. Lore, and the groom-elect's mother, Mrs. Y. C. Lum, received corsages of white carnations and orange chrysanthemums. Guests were Mrs. B. Lum, Mrs. R. Lum, Mrs. M. Leggett, Mrs. B. Brown, Mrs. C. Lum, Mrs. G. Eng, Mrs. H. Pierce and the Misses Verne Lee, Mabel Lum, Gerry Lee, Linda Chang, Phyllis Hopkins, Joyce Lore and Carol Leggett.

Honored

A china Royal Doulton figurine was presented to bride-elect Miss Jane Burtholme at a no-host shower given in her honor in the James Heights home of Mrs. J. Hurley. Yellow roses and rust-toned chrysanthemums were in the corsage received by the guest of honor. Guests included Mrs. C. Graham, Mrs. D. Kendall, Mrs. A. Read, Mrs. F. Speed, Mrs. G. Johns, Mrs. V. Shemilt, Mrs. W. Nicholson, Mrs. G. Thomas, Mrs. R. Thorpe, Mrs. J. Savory, Mrs. R. Kent, Mrs. W. Bates, Mrs. W. Duncan and Miss Kay Shaw.

Attend Wedding

Several Victorians travelled to Oliver to attend the recent wedding of Miss Deirdre Lamb and Mr. Ian Ross in the Church of St. Edward the Confessor. These included the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Ross; his sister, Miss Linda Ross; Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Whysler; Mr. and Mrs. F. Simmonds; Mr. and Mrs. F. Howland; Mrs. K. Glenn, Mr. C. Conlon and Mrs. J. Chapman. Other guests from Vancouver Island were Mrs. B. Dyer, Duncan, and Mrs. J. Watkins, Port Coquitlam.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Needn't Ride to Hounds
But Exercise Is Correct

Once when reading about hip exercises which my gentle (?) reader are much better for the figure than horseback riding.

Even though she was 20 years older than Henry the Second, she simply fascinated him when she was a far past so-called middle age.

I decided that it would be well worth while to learn more about her. Here are a few facts. She is said to have had a vibrantly independent spirit and also that she adhered to a rugged routine so far as care of her health and beauty were concerned:

It is also said that regardless of weather she plunged into a cold shower each morning, and at daybreak, rode a swift horse, accompanied by hounds. Now this may seem a bit eccentric but it worked.

We may not wish to ride to the hounds at daybreak, even if we could find a horse and some hounds, but the idea of a spartan routine of exercise definitely is correct. We can have more fun than she did.

If you would like to have my tested, hip-slimming exercises, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for Leaflet No. 3. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Mrs. John Olson, dressed in the height of fashion for upland game shooting. With Mr. Olson, and their dogs, a German pointer, Sal, in the picture, and a Labrador, Choco Island Prince, she left today on a shooting trip on the prairies.

IN STEP WITH STYLE

Model Takes Style Along
On Prairie Hunting Trip

By NONA DAMASKE

Pat Olson, one of Victoria's leading fashion models, and Sal, the pointer, are making their first trip to the prairies this month to shoot birds. With them will be Pat's husband John and Choco Island Prince, a purebred chocolate brown Labrador, to show them the ropes.

Pat isn't too sure about her prowess with a gun, for she has never shot a bird. But true to the spirit of womanhood, her wardrobe is going to be correctly complete.

The trousers, referred to by those in the know as "tin pants," are two layers of canvas with a layer of oilskin fabric between. These pants are thorn resistant and water repellent. Over the ankle, sturdy leather boots are absolutely necessary for the fields of sharp stubble through which the hunters must tramp. Treated with a greasy substance, the boots also keep out a certain amount of water.

For the really ardent slough-happy duck hunter, hip waders are de rigueur.

Pat will wear for hunting a bright red flannel shirt which will make her easily visible to all members of the shooting party. Bright yellow is also a highly recommended color for those hunting in groups.

Wouldn't it be a lark if Pat shoots more birds than John?

DEAR ABBY

There Should Be More Like You!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I have a travelling man cheat on their coaption line, the bride's mother wives. Now this woman knows thanked me for the "little gift" my husband travels, I told her I had sent her daughter. She she had no right to make a "little gift" was a sterling statement like that but she is ver iray-expensive by any one of those fast talkers who standards. How should I have thinks she knows everything. handled the situation that How do you answer a person shocked me so I was speechless.

ANNOYED

DEAR ANNOYED: Answer her? I wouldn't answer my door when she rings.

SPEECHLESS

DEAR SPEECHLESS: Perhaps it is fortunate that you were "speechless," because a receiving line would have been a poor place for a speech. Your silence indicated better breeding than the bride's mother. Inflicting pain on another doesn't soothe our own wounds any way.

Newlyweds Fly to Eastern Home After Wedding in St. Mary's

Following their wedding last Saturday afternoon, Sub-Lt. Ian Airth Powick, RCN, and Mrs. Powick left by plane for Halifax, N.S., where they will make their home. Groom will be stationed with the Naval Fleet Air Arm in HMCS Shearwater.

Bride, the former Judith Mary, is daughter of Mrs. Marjorie Hoey, 1262 Beach Drive, and the late Lieut. Trevor Hoey. Sub-Lt. Powick is son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Powick of Kelowna.

St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, was setting for the afternoon wedding. Canon Hywel Jones conducted the ceremony in a setting of yellow-and-white shasta chrysanthemums, golden gladioli and ivy.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her grandfather, Ferguson Hoey. Her creamy pure silk organza floor-length gown was enhanced by a scalloped sabrina neckline and cap sleeves. Princess line front panel was applied with Alencon lace re-embroidered with tiny seed pearls. For "something old" she wore an antique gold and pearl sunburst brooch, given to her by her maternal grandmother. A large silk organza rose highlighted by a shepherdess nouf, held her chapel-length veil.

Green and gold slipper satin dresses with scooped necklines emphasized by large portrait collars and pleated-bouffant skirts trimmed at the waistlines with self bows, were worn by trio of bridesmaids, Miss Susan Forrest, maid of honor; Miss Wendy Martin and Miss Donna McNeill. They carried bouquets of golden shasta chrysanthemums tied with gold and green ribbons.

Sub-Lt. (P) David Cramton was best man. Ushers were Sub-Lt. Tom Essery, Sub-Lt. Lorne McDonald, Douglas Connor and Donald Powick.

A naval crest topped the three-tier wedding cake which centred bridal table at a reception in Oak Bay Beach Hotel. It was flanked by bowls of golden and white chrysanthemums.

Seviteurs were the Misses Judy Burnett, Pam Dixon, Nancy Dunn, Roberta Hepburn, Jacque Lord and Judy Pope, all former classmates and friends of the bride.

Wearing a hand-woven suit in Parma violet shade, designed by Frederick Starke of London, Eng., the new Mrs. Powick left on honeymoon.

Her feather hat was in grey and white and accessories were in black. A small green orchid completed the picture.

Ruth Levirs Married This Afternoon

A honeymoon in Hawaii is planned by Mr. and Mrs. Noel Edward James Boston, married today in Fairfield United Church.

Rev. H. K. Johnston officiated at the service which united Marjorie Ruth Levirs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Levirs, 329 Windermere Place, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Boston, 4285 Shelbourne Street. Pink and white color scheme was used to decorate the church.

Palest pink embroidered organza over white satin formed the short, full skirted gown worn by the bride as she entered the church on her father's arm. A narrow ribbon bound the tiny waist.

Full sleeves were draped softly to elbow length. A seed pearl tiara held the shoulder-length veil of white tulle. White roses and white feathered carnations were in the crescent bouquet.

Only jewelry was a crystal drop pendant.

Rose colored taffeta gown with shawl collar and full skirt was worn by the only attendant, Mrs. Peter L. Smith, the bride's sister. She wore pink accessories and carried a crescent bouquet of pale pink miniature roses. Peter Beauchamp was best man and ushers were Alan Payne, John Mepham and Bill Hardy.

Pink roses topped the three-tier wedding cake that centred head table at a reception in Old Charming Inn. Cake was decorated by the bride's great-uncle, Herbert Weare, Vancouver.

Reception rooms were decorated in pink and white theme. C. F. Swannell proposed the toast.

As her going-away outfit the new Mrs. Boston chose a green silk sheath dress, topped with a white wool jacket. Corsage was a green orchid.

Newlyweds will make their new home in Nanaimo.

ENTRY WITHOUT SEARCH WARRANT

Misuse of Police Power
Charged at Hearing

The meanest man in the world has the same rights of privacy as the richest and most respected man, a lawyer told city police commission Friday in contending two detectives had illegally entered the dwelling of Jens P. Kibsgaard.

Police commission reserved decision on lawyer W. H. Haldane's request that the two detectives be disciplined for an arrogant misuse of police power.

The full-dress inquiry into the May 20 incident was conducted at an open hearing complete with sworn testimony, cross-examinations and legal counsel.

Accused of misconduct were detectives Angus Munro and Deans Blackstock. Their counsel was Lloyd McKenzie.</p

Vow to 'Free Formosa' Marks Red China Fete

TOKYO (AP) — Communist-ready to defend your homes China's Foreign Minister Chen and motherland." Yi said today the Chinese Chen Yi made this declaration people are determined to liberate minutes before 500,000 Chinese marched through Peiping to take up arms and end Formosa. He called on China's vast militia to "get king's Square of Heavenly Peace to celebrate the 11th anniversary of the Communist conquest of the mainland."

There was no indication Peking had softened its differences with Soviet Premier Khrushchev over the inevitability of war to advance communism.

On the contrary, a new edition of Mao Tse-tung's collected works, which appeared today, was quoted officially to support China's argument that struggle, including armed struggle, was needed to overcome imperialism.

The Soviet news agency Tass, said Khrushchev sent Mao a message of congratulations on the anniversary.

INDUSTRY SATISFACTORY

In his keynote address in Peking, Chen Yi predicted that Red China will fulfill or exceed its major industrial goals this year. The foreign minister said that steel and pig iron output increased by about 40 per cent from January to August compared to the same period last year, coal 23 per cent, electric power and freight tonnage by about 43 per cent. He did not give the figures for the goals set.

The Peking People's Daily, official organ of the Chinese Communist party, recalled an 11-year-old article written by Mao which declared, "The question of daring or not daring to take up arms and end the rule of reaction is one of fundamental principle which involves loyalty or disloyalty to the interests of the people and the question of firmness and revolutionary standpoint."

CCF LEADER ASKS HONEST POWER ANSWER

CCF leader Robert Strachan Friday called for an "honest" answer by officials who have recently advocated export of hydro power from B.C.

"Tell the people the source of the power they propose exporting," said Mr. Strachan.

Earlier he had charged that B.C. Electric president A. E. Grauer and Peace River Power president W. C. Mainwaring were seeking export of publicly-owned power to be developed from the Columbia River.

Dr. Gordon Shrum of the B.C. Energy Board has now joined them in urging power exports.

Mr. Strachan said today no one has denied his allegation.

He said Mr. Grauer and Forests Minister Williston have only denied that B.C. could export the downstream benefits from the Columbia River.

Annihilation Faced Says UBC President

VANCOUVER (CP) — The president of the University of British Columbia said Friday the world is living in the most dangerous period in history and could face total annihilation overnight.

In his annual speech to UBC students, in which he urged them to consider working in underdeveloped countries for at least part of their lives, Dr. Norman A. M. MacKenzie said:

"Unless all of us—black, white, yellow and brown—capitalists, Communists and citizens of a hundred or more nations—can realize that our only hope lies in some form of peaceful co-existence, in cooperation and in recognition that there should be a place

CHEK-TV CLEARED

Interference 'Normal State'

OTTAWA (CP) — Television posed to the board at the Sept. 15 hearing as being designed to eliminate interference. But the board ruled them out to-day, one by one, as being either impractical or defeating the purpose of CHEK-TV's increased coverage.

One corrective is available to viewers, the board said. The interference can be overcome with installation of a "trap" in their sets—cost of which can range from $1. since sometimes it can be done with a piece of wire, to $17. Repair needed to set the trap at the same time might raise costs to $40 or $50.

Meanwhile, the BBG said it will attempt to arrange "some flexibility" in programming so that U.S. programs wanted by greater Vancouver viewers can be shown on CHEK-TV, the CBC's Vancouver station CBUT, or—when it goes on the air—newly-licensed CHAN-TV.

In a companion statement

Friday, the board also cleared CHEK-TV of the most recent allegations that it has violated the conditions of its power increase by soliciting local advertising business in the greater Vancouver area.

The board has said that such advertising business could prejudice the financial success of CHAN-TV.

Nikita Storms Again

Vote Delayed On Red China

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (CP) — Premier Khrushchev attacked the United States and its allies today and plunged the United Nations General Assembly into an uproar before he was gavelled to order.

At one point, the Soviet leader suggested socialist countries might form a United Nations of their own and invite other countries to join.

"This," he said, "will be the burying ground of the United Nations. This will be its tomb. We do not wish to see that."

The United States told the assembly that the Soviet leader's behavior cast doubt on the possibility of successful negotiations for world peace.

The heated exchange came as the assembly took up the question of Red China's admission to the UN. It adjourned this afternoon without taking a vote on the question.

The new uproar—the second in two days touched off by the Soviet leader—came when Khrushchev in off-the-cuff remarks from the rostrum attacked Generalissimo Francisco Franco of Spain as a "hangman."

SPANIARD SHOUTS PROTEST

Spanish Ambassador Jose Felix de Lequerica shouted an angry protest from the floor. Assembly President Frederick Boland of Ireland banged his gavel to remind Khrushchev that UN speakers are not free to attack heads of state personally.

The Soviet premier accused Boland of using a double standard—one for the Western countries and one for the Communists. He said he would strike back when a socialist country is attacked.

Taking the rostrum under the right-of-reply rules, U.S. Ambassador James Wadsworth told the assembly he regretted

Rebuilt Chinatown to Rise In Wake of Nanaimo Blaze

36 Residences Destroyed; 250 Homeless

By DON INGHAM

NANAIMO — The groundwork was laid today for the rebuilding of Nanaimo's historic Chinatown, which burned to the ground Friday night in a blaze which lit up the sky for miles around and is considered one of the worst in the city's history.

Of the 43 buildings which lined both sides of a single block on Pine Street, 36 burned to the ground, leaving 250 Chinese residents homeless and destitute. Most are elderly.

RCMP are fairly certain there was no loss of life. One man was reported missing Friday night, and bone fragments were found in the fire, today, but police said the chance of a fatality was a "bare possibility."

Care of the victims, however, was assured at a meeting today of civic, provincial, civil defence, and Chinese community officials, according to Mayor Pete Maffeo.

"We set up committees for the immediate care of these people," he told the Times.

"Quarters and empty houses will be found for those who wish them, and others who will rise from the ashes."

SEE OTHER FIRE PICTURES, STORIES P. 2, 3

prefer to stay at their temporary quarters in Camp Nanaimo may remain."

"When their comfort is assured, then city and provincial officials will meet to consider building something fine and modern."

Said David Wah Thom, unofficial "mayor" of Chinatown: "Maybe a new town will be built from the ashes."

No Building Insurance

Loss was estimated at up wards of $200,000.

There was insurance on some of the furnishings in the homes, but none was carried on the buildings, erected about 1910.

Fanned by a high wind, flames raced through the ancient wooden buildings almost with the speed of light, and firemen had no hope of stopping them.

It was started at about 4:45 p.m. by a rubbish fire at the rear of a vacant building.

Witnesses said the elderly man who lit the fire tried to stop it when it flared up in the wind, but that by the time he realized he was helpless the building had caught fire.

Blaze Seen Miles Away

Nanaimo firemen took one side, and Harewood Volunteer Fire Department the other.

By 6 p.m. the whole town was in flames, and the blaze could be seen for miles.

There were scenes of tragedy as elderly Chinese, who made up the bulk of the population, seemed unable to cope with the idea that the roaring flames beside them were soon going to destroy their homes.

Howard Chang, 20, and his brother, Dennis, 17, actually started the evacuation and salvage effort by bursting into homes and tossing bedding and other goods into the street.

DOWN PIPE

An old man of 80 years slid down a drainpipe to safety, with nothing but the clothes he was wearing.

Heavy losses were suffered by Henry Wong, a farmer, whose own home went up in flames and who also had a metal safe burned in the fire.

"A lot of the older residents gave Henry their cash to keep in his safe," said Gugnar Wong, a friend. "I know of one old gentleman who lost a $500 bond, and I'm afraid there was a lot of cash left in boxes in the homes."

'CAMELOT' PREMIERE

Tough Canadian Critics Get First Crack at Show

By ISABELLE McCAG

TORONTO (UPI) — The new Lerner-Löewe musical "Camelot" has its world premiere here tonight, its financial success already assured for nearly a year thanks to its famous predecessor, "My Fair Lady."

The fabulous $2,000,000 advance sale for the musical version of the legend of King Arthur and the Knights of the Round Table has led "Camelot" press agent Richard Mayne to describe it as "a little obscene."

Obscene or not, the advance sale for the Majestic Theatre run in New York means the $480,000 show can't lose. "Camelot" moves to New York after its debut at Toronto's new O'Keefe centre where it's also sold out.

SOME MAY GO

The first debut of a Broadway show in Canada has Alan Jay Lerner, Frederick Löewe and Moss Hart worried that the audience may not realize the show is still being worked on when they see it and that some numbers may be whisked out if it is found they are not successful.

The audience of 3,200 will be dazzling as the show, Toronto society is turning out in full force in all its jewels-and-black-tie finery. "Camelot" coupled with the opening of the new theatre, has become the social event of the season.

Added to the attraction is young Robert Goulet, a Canadian virtually unknown outside this country, who the producers are gambling will become a new matinee idol in his role as Lancelot.

My Fair Lady's leading lady Julie Andrews, in a long blonde wig, plays Queen Guinevere to Richard Burton's King Arthur. And Robert Coote, who was Col. Pickering in "My Fair Lady" is King Phillipine.

No hint of the musical score has emerged through weeks of rehearsals, first in New York, and finally here where security guards keep reporters, photographers and curios out of the theatre.

Despite the wonderful ballyhoo and high-priced publicity, even the advance sale is, however, no guarantee of a hit.

Said Lerner: "Frankly, we don't expect to repeat it." ("My Fair Lady.")

But then their musical hit of the century has broken all records, making a fortune for the participants and nearly edging out Oklahoma as the longest-running musical in Broadway history.

TOUGH CITY

Producer Moss Hart, the third man behind "Lady" favored staging the troupe here in the wide spaces of the O'Keefe centre, which incidentally made an offer too good to turn down.

New plays are traditionally tried out in "tough" cities. In this respect, Toronto has no peer. Not only do audiences here have a reputation for being bold, but the critics also are viewed with alarm.

The lack of a Sunday newspaper means the company will have to wait until Sunday night for the morning paper reviews of the tale of noble King Arthur and storied Sir Lancelot, set in medieval England.

Following Camelot's three-week run, Toronto's new theatre, built at a cost of some $12 million to advertise a brewery, will feature famous grandmothers Marlene Dietrich, Harry Belafonte, At the Drop of a Hat, "Raisin" in the Sun and "Fiorello."

Choral Director Has Hands Full

Among city groups steadily rehearsing for projected performances, one of the foremost is Victoria Choral Society which plans to present Handel's "Messiah" in December and also a spring concert featuring baritone John Dunbar in a song cycle with chorus.

Music Director Stanley Hoban has selected Peggy Packard, Eleahor Duff, Michael Rogers and Stanley Martin as Messiah soloists.

At the same time Mr. Hoban is busy with Gilbert and Sullivan's "HMS Pinafore" which also will see a December production at the Royal Theatre.

Michael Rogers and Eleanor Duff carry the principal roles of Ralph Rackstraw and Bertie in this production. Terry French sings Josephine, Norman Tyrrell, the Captain, Ellis Todd, Sir Joseph, and Jim Mead Robbins, Boatswain Bobstay.

Brilliant Contrasts On Oct. Show Bill

Two top items on the October entertainment calendar are equally colorful, vivid and dramatic and at the same time in striking contrast.

They initiate a series of visiting performances and are presented by Famous Artists.

First, at the Royal Theatre, Oct. 11, there will appear a bewitchingly brilliant one-woman circus in the person of Elsa Lanchester.

This copper-haired, impish actress who in private life is wife to Charles Laughton, has captured audiences by the thousands and thawed the ranks of the world's toughest critics with her bravura solo performance.

On Oct. 21 at Memorial Arena, in complete contrast to the one-woman show, audiences will enjoy the massed spectacle and the world-famous music of the regimental band of the Coldstream Guards, and pipes and drums of the Queen's Own Cameron Highlanders.

Both colorfully garbed groups will stage marching and musical displays connected with the proud history of their regiments.

The Coldstream Guards were formed during the Restoration in the mid-17th century, while the Cameron Highlanders were raised by Sir Alan Cameron of Errach in 1793 and originally consisted almost entirely of men from the Cameron clan.

(BB) "THE STORY OF Whitman as the good Boaz, RUTH" (Odeon): Have you and Jeff Morrow as the bad read the Old Testament's Book of Ruth recently? It looks uneasy in their costumes. However, Tom Tryon emerges better as Ruth's husband who was destined to die in the stone quarries.

Twentieth Century Fox's CinemaScope, color by Deluxe version takes 20 hours to tell. Although it has its sincere moments it becomes unnaturally complex and takes such liberties with the story that has been the inspiration for poets and artists for centuries that one, in the end, can find little relation between the two.

Indeed "The Story of Ruth" should be thought of, perhaps, as a monument to screenwriter Norman Corwin's vivid imagination. For instance, he supplies Ruth with a weird and wonderful early, pre-biblical history, that of a Moabitess priestess in the temple of a stone god who demands human sacrifice.

He accounts also for the death of Naomi's husband and their two sons (one the husband of Ruth) and faces Ruth and Naomi's return to Judah and their subsequent settling there with enough intrigue and action to satisfy any ordinary action fan.

Acting by newcomer Elana Eden as Ruth is satisfactory, but it is Peggy Wood as Naomi who turns in the best performance of all, having very probably actually read "The Book of Ruth." Stuart

Hard on the heels of the Swedish hit, "Smiles of a Summer Night," the Plaza Theatre will introduce to Victorian motion picture-goers another foreign film of merit, "The 400 Blows," starting Monday and playing for three days.

"The 400 Blows" — Les Quatre Cent Coups — was the winner of the New York Film Critics prize as Best Foreign Film of the year, winner of the Cannes Film Festival Award, 1959, and winner of the Prix Melies of the Paris Film Critics.

In announcing the import, Steve Allen, manager of the Plaza Theatre, indicated that "Smiles of a Summer Night" and "The 400 Blows" were but the forerunners of a list of top foreign films that his theatre intended bringing to town should attendance warrant.

At the same time she has been described as "utterly unique" and as having a "definite flair for satire."

And from Montreal where such talents are appreciated as nowhere else, says Le Canada: "Elle est magnifique!"

Casting To Begin For Opera

Planned production of Purcell's short opera about a tragic queen of Carthage, "Dido and Aeneas," will get its start next week when preliminary auditions for principals and chorus will be held by Prof. Boyce Gaddes at his home, 1345 Victoria Avenue.

Victoria Musical Art Society will present the opera for two performances at Oak Bay Junior High School next January.

Production will be under the direction of Audrey Johnson with Prof. Gaddes as musical director.

All interested singers are asked to phone Prof. Gaddes at EV 2-1495. Voices in every category are needed, including soprano, mezzo soprano, alto and tenor or light baritone, for principal parts.

First audition will be held Tuesday evening.

Guild's Opening Comedy Gets Good Reception

"Jangs" by Carolyn Green

Director: Phyllis Dulmage

It was "curtain time, 1960" at Langham Court Theatre, Friday night, as Victoria Theatre Guild launched its opening production, a light, sophisticated comedy in the Noel Coward tradition but without the Coward touch.

The plot is the sort of thing the British playwright does superlatively but in this case its contrivances were too pat and the witticisms sound ed self-conscious and forced.

Heidi Peaker as the wife who lives a double life, carrying on a lucrative literary, extra-marital partnership in the fall-winter arts and entertainment season.

Sunday afternoon at 3 and Monday evening at 8:30, with Hans Gruber on the podium, the first October concerts have come to be traditionally regarded as ushering in the fall-winter arts and entertainment season.

She has personality and warmth and brings a fine degree of intensity to her characterization. Perhaps she is too sincere an actress in this instance. At any rate the tinkling sophistication, the too precious utterances of Jessica did not sit well with her.

Most convincing character in the play was the New York literary agent, a quixotic spinster aunt among her literary chicks. Nora Kellie played this convincingly with just the right touches of patronage, cheerful kindness and tolerance.

Apart from this it ran with fair smoothness for a first night and was well received by the small audience present.

Frankly, the actors had an impossible task with a play that was totally lacking in charm or true sophistication.

Perhaps, then, it was as well that scenery and lighting distracted continually from the aimless progress of plot and performance.

"Janus" will be repeated tonight and through next week.

FULL HOUSE AT CPR WHARF

Where Do They Go From Here?

Tied up and/or up for sale are sleek white Princesses of the CPR fleet which used to chum the waters of the Inner Harbor, on a year-round basis.

Now, with the advent of air transportation, and road-and-water ferry services with shorter times at sea, the B.C. Coast Service is compelled to lay up its "pocket liners" during winter months.

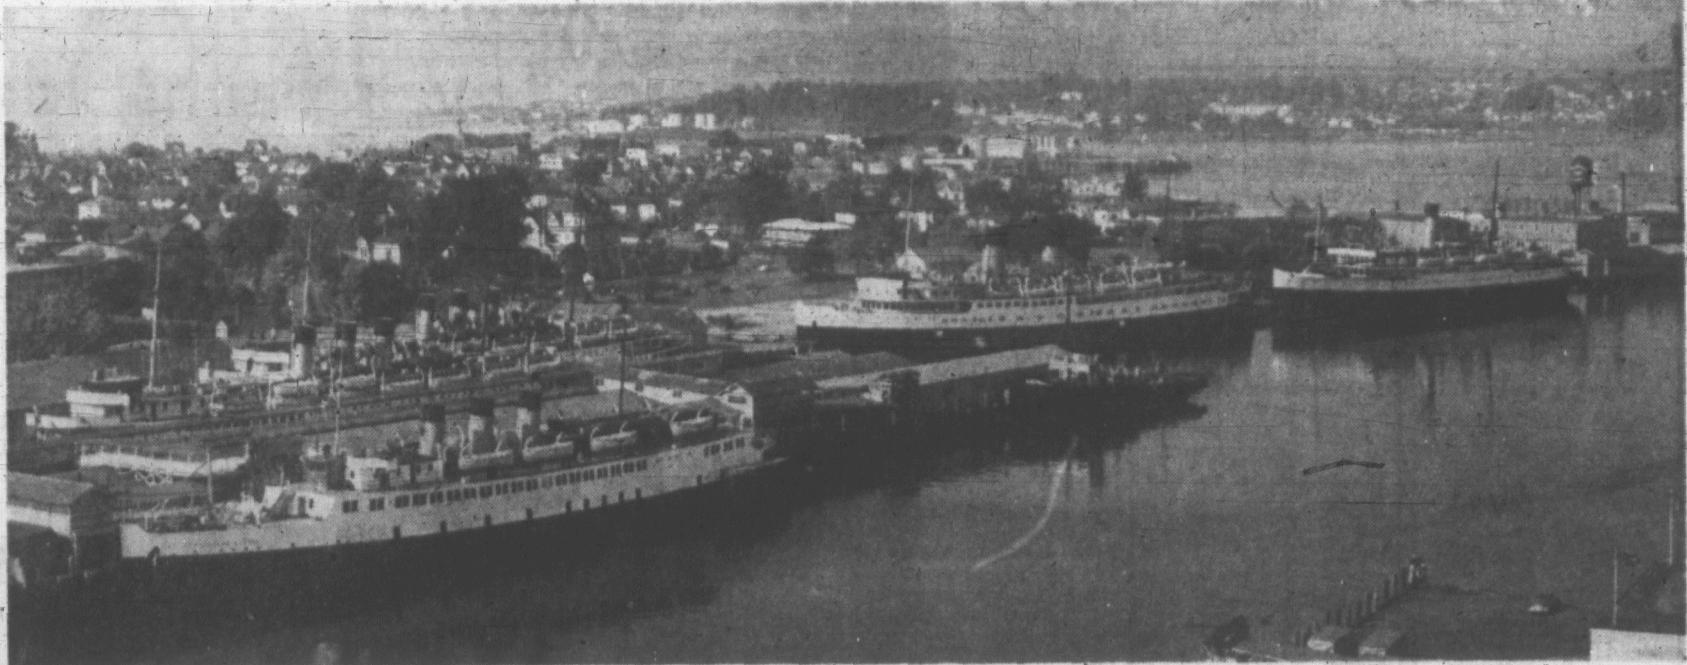

Two of the ships in the photo at right are definitely up for sale—the former night steamers Princess Joan and Princess Elizabeth. Best guess is they'll be sold to a Japanese shipbreaker.

Possible candidates for sale in the near future are two even more elderly ladies of the fleet—Princess Elaine, built in 1928, and Princess Louise, whose natal year was 1921.

Elaine has been used as a "swing" or relief ship during the summer. Last winter, in response to indignant outcry of Victoria citizens, Elaine provided a once-daily service to Vancouver.

Since Princess Kathleen sank in 1952, the venerable Princess Louise has been used on the Alaska cruise run during the summer, and has rested each winter.

One of the many rumors floating around the waterfront has it that Princess Marguerite (with her sister Princess Patricia, a lovely young 12 years of age), will be converted for the Alaska run.

MONTE ROBERTS

Yesterday I bemoaned the fact I never seem to be around when I am needed.

Not long after the paper was out, a true-blue, loyal constituent telephoned to say, how could I be around, when I am a square?

Har de har (I think) har. But I have been around enough to notice what the women folk are wearing on top of their heads these days.

Mind you, I cannot describe what the women folk are wearing on top of their heads these days.

How can you describe a bucket molded from wet plasticine by a feeble-minded chimpanzee with two left front feet?

The only thing that saves the women folk from these cranial monstrosities is that the women folk in these parts are getting prettier every year. Either that, or I am in my second childhood. (Which is entirely possible.)

And the only possible explanation of why the women folk are walking around under these things must be the same as the time-honored explanation of why the Scottish people cherish the bagpipes.

The time-honored explanation is, the Irish imported the bagpipes from the Persians (or was it the Egyptians?), gave them to the Scottish as a joke, and the Scottish haven't seen the joke yet.

It is pretty obvious that some male milliner, seated in the back room at Sloppy Joe's with one sarsaparilla too many under his belt, decided to invent the current headgear as a joke on the poor women folk.

It is possible his wife had burned the breakfast bacon that morning, or invited her brother to stay for the winter, or perhaps the male milliner was paying alimony to too many wives.

At any rate, he decided to play this rather sneaky joke on the women folk, and, like the Scottish, the women folk haven't seen the joke.

But there is one consolation.

Any woman folk wearing the current type of (excuse the expression) hat will be ready for All Hallows Eve with the simple addition of a broom.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Next regular meeting of Esquimalt municipal council will be held in the Municipal Hall on Monday at 7:30 p.m.

When municipal voters' lists closed Friday, Victoria had gained 322 new residents and tenant-electors, but lost about 400 from the 1959 list due to persons who didn't return forms.

Saanich had 40 new resident-electors, but 51 others failed to conform.

Oak Bay had 65 registrations and 58 names dropped.

Capt. B. J. Gadsden, a former city alderman, has been named permanent honorary president of the B.C. Aviation Council, it was announced Friday.

This was done, the council said, "in recognition of his long-time interest in the advance of aviation in British Columbia and his devoted support of the council in furtherance of its work for the betterment of air transport facilities throughout the province."

TARGET SET FOR 10,000 TREES

Miniature Forest Graces City Streets

By JOHN MIKA

The small forest gracing Victoria's boulevards will total almost 10,000 trees within two or three years.

City parks administrator W. H. Warren said today 1,500 new trees planted last spring have survived one of the driest summers on record and another 1,200 are being prepared in the civic nursery for planting next spring.

The current small-scale forestation program began with planting of more than 1,000 trees on new boulevards in the spring of 1959.

"After next year, we will still have more than 2,000 more trees to plant to finish the program," Mr. Warren said.

That will raise the present total of more than 6,000 trees on street boulevards to the 10,000 figure.

In addition, the parks department every year plants 100 to 300 replacement trees as old trees die or require replacement to avoid interference with overhead wires or underground utilities.

The department gives preference to streets where residents have shown interest in improving the appearance of their neighborhood.

Each new tree costs about $10 by the time it is planted and takes about 10 years to reach its mature size. About 25 varieties are planted by the department.

"It takes constant watering to establish these trees because of the dry summers we have," said Mr. Warren.

Ironically, Mr. Warren's vigorous direction of the tree planting program has not stopped many tree-lovers from accusing him of hating trees because of the policy of removing large trees from boulevards.

"I inherited a situation where many of our boulevards had large trees planted too close together and they caused damage to overhead wires, curbs, gutters and sidewalks," he says. "We did the only thing solution."

we could, thin them out and gradually replace them with smaller trees."

Mr. Warren has consistently refused to practice "tree butchery" by excessive pruning.

"If a tree can't be allowed to grow to its normal shape and size—it shouldn't be planted," he maintains. "This constant 'bobbing-back' of trees is not only hideous but also would cost the city up to $10,000."

"Putting the right tree into the right situation is the only solution."

READY TO GO next spring will be these young trees bought for planting on city boulevards. Parks department maintenance superintendent Cliff Bates examines some of the 1,200 trees in civic nursery.

Work for about 50 men for three months will result.

K RAISES NEW UN STORM

IN WAKE OF HOLOCAUST

Nanaimo
To Rebuild
Chinatown

By DON INGHAM

NANAIMO — The groundwork was laid today for the rebuilding of Nanaimo's historic Chinatown, which burned to the ground Friday night in a blaze which lit up the sky for miles around and is considered one of the worst in the city's history.

Of the 43 buildings which lined both sides of a single block on Pine Street, 36 were completely razed, leaving 250 Chinese residents homeless and destitute.

Most are elderly.

RCMP are fairly certain there was no loss of life. One man was reported missing Friday night, and bone fragments were found in the fire, today, but police said the chance of a fatality was a "bare possibility."

Care of the victims, however, was assured at a meeting today of civic, provincial, civil defence, and Chinese community officials, according to Mayor Pete Maffeo.

"We set up committees for the immediate care of these people," he told the Times. "Quarters and empty houses will be found for those who wish them, and others who prefer to stay at their temporary quarters in Camp Nanaimo may remain."

"When their comfort is assured, then city and provincial officials will meet to consider building something fine and modern."

Said David Wah Thom, unofficial "mayor" of Chinatown: "Maybe a new town will rise from the ashes."

No Building Insurance

Loss was estimated at upwards of $200,000.

There was insurance on some of the furnishings in the homes, but none was carried on the buildings, erected about 1910.

Fanned by a high wind, flames raced through the ancient wooden buildings almost with the speed of light, and firemen had no hope of stopping them.

It was started at about 4:45 p.m. by a rubbish fire at the rear of a vacant building.

Witnesses said the elderly man who lit the fire tried to stop it when it flared up in the wind; but that by the time he realized he was helpless the building had caught fire.

When the alarm finally reached Nanaimo fire department, two buildings were on fire and the whole town was threatened.

Fire Chief Colin McArthur and Assistant Chief Albert Dunn of the Nanaimo department said the flames were so hot that it was impossible to fight the fire from the street.

They were further hampered by the buildings being set side by side, with no space between.

"There were gaps near the west end of the street, and that is where we cut it off," Mr. Dunn said. "We couldn't work on the street, but had to come at it from the rear of buildings on both sides of the street."

Nanaimo firemen took one side, and Harewood Volunteer Fire Department the other.

By 6 p.m. the whole town was in flames, and the blaze could be seen for miles.

There were scenes of tragedy as elderly Chinese, who made up the bulk of the popu-

Community Spirit Scores Victory Over Fire Loss

lution, seemed unable to cope with the idea that the roaring flames beside them were soon going to destroy their homes.

Howard Chang, 20, and his brother, Dennis, 17, actually started the evacuation and salvage effort by bursting into homes and tossing bedding and other goods into the street.

DOWN PIPE

An old man of 80 years died down a drainpipe to safety, with nothing but the clothes he was wearing.

Heavy losses were suffered by Henry Wong, a farmer, whose own home went up in flames and who also had a metal safe burned in the fire.

A lot of the older residents gave Henry their cash to keep in his safe," said Gunnar Wong, a friend. "I know of one old gentleman who lost a $500 bond, and I'm afraid there was a lot of cash left in boxes in the homes."

At least three safes were salvaged. Firemen cooled them with hoses, then bulldozer operator Jerry Heathcote cleared debris away from them. Morris Loyer, using a front-end loader, then placed them in a gravel truck with a metal box.

St. John Ambulance and Red Cross workers assisted the elderly folk into buses and away to safety at temporary billets in Camp Nanaimo, army camp near the city.

Faces impasive with the stoicism of countless generations inured to suffering, they still showed the strain and sorrow of having their lives turned upside down. But there were no complaints, and complete faith in the work of the volunteers who turned out in large numbers.

For some, though, the shock was too great. A few had to be forced to leave their homes, others were found later lying in the bushes nearby. Still others wandered dazedly about the fire until taken in hand by volunteers.

Younger and active men like restauranteur Chuck Wong, who lost heavily in the fire; farmer Henry Wong and David Wah Thom smoothed the way for the elderly.

ONE ACCIDENT

Despite the fury of the fire, there was only one accident, when a spectator tripped over a hose.

Near tragedy was averted when a Harewood fire truck, cut off by the fire, blasted to safety through smoke and flame.

Crowds gathered at both Hecate Street and Pine Street approaches to the fire, and police were hard pressed to make room for firemen to do their work.

"I had to shout two and three times at some of these blasted people," said one RCMP constable. It is estimated at one time that up to 2,000 spectators were at the fire.

LONG FEARED

A disaster such as this has long been a spectre feared by the community, and for several years they have kept their own fire watch 24 hours a day, 365 days a year.

Chinese bucket brigade has put out several fires in the town, and Friday night was the height of the blaze, one old gentleman was carrying his bucket faithfully to the fire.

An industrial area south of the fire was threatened, but nothing started. Chief worry was a large tank of liquid carbon dioxide which firemen feared might explode if heated.

CHURCH SAVED

Also saved were the Chinese United Church and Masonic hall.

Homes which were saved will be checked by the fire marshal for possible occupancy, Mayor Maffeo said.

"The disaster organization which went to work Friday night was back on the job at 7 a.m. today," he said. "It has given the Chinese community here a wonderful lift knowing it has so many friends."

The Victoria Lions Club has opened a fund to assist the fire victims.

Philip Chan, an official of the club, said some donations were received today to assist the destitute fire victims.

and for trucks to remove salvaged goods.

One witness said "there must have been 200 trucks lined up waiting to help," and although that was considered a generous estimate, there were plenty.

As fast as they were loaded and stored under guard,

Red Cross rounded up the residents, most of them elderly and not able to speak English, and sent them in Vancouver Island Coach Lines buses to Camp Nanaimo.

Names on Coats

There they were given sandwiches and coffee provided by Canadian Legion auxiliaries, and each had a ticket with his name on it pinned to his coat.

The army provided blankets and mattresses, and by 10 p.m., after a harrowing five hours, they were settled. The old gentlemen took lower bunks in a large army hut, where washroom signs were displayed in Chinese, and the work for their welfare went ahead at a more leisurely pace.

Some 14 women and children were billeted at St. Ann's Convent, where nuns made a temporary dormitory in the children's cafeteria.

Comfortable Night

Help was promised for the sisters, but it was purely through their own efforts that they made the homeless comfortable for the night.

"We borrowed two cribs and two baby buggies, and soon had everyone provided for, even the babies," said Sister Mary Louise Alma, Sister Superior at the school.

Today arrangements are being made with provincial welfare authorities to take over the care of those who have no other homes, and the local CCF organization is planning a fund-raising bingo party.

Already the United Appeal organization in Nanaimo has arranged a fund and will issue receipts. Cheques may be made out to Fire Relief Fund, Box 304, Nanaimo.

CD Planning

The Friday night program was only a part of the spontaneous effort made by citizens on behalf of the Chinese community, and it will be continued for weeks yet.

During the Second World War Pete Maffeo organized the Air Raid Protection services in Nanaimo, and did such a fine job that he received the Order of the British Empire at a Government House investiture after the war.

His work Friday night as mayor showed he had planned well 16 years ago, and had the modern civil defence set up ready at his fingertips.

the Soviet leader's remarks and added:

"I can only hope the intermittent outbursts which we heard this morning will not be repeated and that the often reiterated position of the United States that we are ready to negotiate whenever there is sincerity in negotiations, and a possibility of success will again prevail."

He said he was "deeply sorry" that Khrushchev's performances of today and Thursday in heckling Prime Minister Macmillan "cast a good deal of doubt on the possibility of calm, constructive negotiations on disarmament or any of the larger aspects of peace in our time."

'Spurs Blank Wolves

LONDON (AP) — Tottenham Hotspur handed Wolverhampton Wanderers a 4-0 defeat at Wolverhampton today and continued its all-conquering march at the head of the English First Division.

It was the 'Spurs' 11th league game—and they have won them all.

Tottenham's chief rival, Sheffield Wednesday, scrambled to a 2-1 win over Nottingham Forest and stayed three points behind the amazing London team. Everton is third, four points behind Wednesday.

Tottenham was without injured left-half Dave MacKay, but Tony Marchi stood in and played a big part in the triumph.

Tottenham packed its goal effectively against Wolves' early attacks and then dashed upfield for Cliff Jones to shoot their first goal. Two minutes before half-time wing-half Danny Blanchflower made it 2-0 from 25 yards.

Les Allen and Terry Dyson rammed home two more goals in the second half.

WEDNESDAY PRESSED

Sheffield Wednesday had a hard time winning at Nottingham. Jack Fantham sent Wednesday into a first-minute lead, but after that Nottingham had most of the attacking.

Colin Booth levelled the score in the second half. Bobbie Craig made it 2-1 for Wednesday and from then on Sheffield's defence had to struggle desperately.

Everton's Scottish international outside-left Tommy King was carried off with a broken leg at Chelsea a few minutes after scoring a brilliant goal. Everton still forced a 3-3 tie.
